NOTIFICATION.

RULES AND DIRECTIONS OF THE SYNDICATE FOR THE ADMISSION OF HOLDERS OF SECONDARY SCHOOL LEAVING CERTIFICATES TO UNIVERSITY COURSES OF STUDY.

I. Admission of holders of secondary school-leaving certificates to University courses of study in the academic year 1917-18 and subsequent years shall be made only in accordance with the revised rules and directions of the Syndicate herein contained.

II. Such holders only of completed secondary school-leaving certificates may be admitted to University courses of study, and will be registered as matriculates under Regulation 166 (a) as have been declared eligible for such admission by the Syndicate.

III. Hereafter a complete list of certificate-holders declared eligible for admission to University courses of study will be published annually in the Fort St. George Gazette and a copy of this list will be furnished to each Principal of an affiliated college. In no circumstances may any certificate-holder not included in one of these lists be admitted to an affiliated college other than a College for Women nor will any such certificate-holder be entitled to registration as a matriculate under Regulation 166 (a) except as provided in paragraph X below.

IV. In the case of certificates issued under the authority of the Government of Madras those holders of certificates who qualify under either of the two following sets of rules will be included in the list of those declared eligible by the Syndicate for admission to University courses of study.

I

1. Secondary school leaving certificate-holders shall be eligible for admission to University courses of study who as marks in the Public Examination or whose marks after moderation are not less than the Presidency average in the Public Examination in each of the subjects in Group A and in two of the subjects of Group C (one of which subjects being Algebra and Geometry, or Physics, or Chemistry, or English History), provided that the examination or moderated marks obtained are at least 5 above the Presidency average in English and also 5 above the Presidency average in one of the aforementioned subjects in Group C.

2. A secondary school-leaving certificate-holder who fails to obtain marks equal to the Presidency average in Vernacular Composition or in Elementary Mathematics shall be eligible for admission, provided he obtains excess marks in English and the other subject taken together equal in number to twice the number of marks by which he is deficient in the one subject.

A secondary school-leaving certificate-holder who fails to obtain marks equal to the Presidency average in Vernacular Composition and in Elementary Mathematics shall be eligible for admission, provided he obtains excess marks in English equal in number to twice the total number of marks by which he is deficient in the two other subjects.

3. A secondary school-leaving certificate holder who obtains 5 marks above the Presidency average in one of the four selected subjects in Group C but who fails to obtain marks equal to the Presidency average in a second subject of that group shall be eligible for admission, provided that in the former subject he obtains excess marks equal in number to twice the number of marks by which he is deficient in the latter subject.

4. A secondary school-leaving certificate-holder who fails to obtain marks equal to the Presidency average in Vernacular Composition, or Elementary Mathematics or in both, and also in a second subject of Group C may be declared eligible for admission, provided that he obtains excess marks as above both in the other subject or subjects in Group A and in the other subject of Group C.

II

1. Secondary school leaving certificate holders shall be eligible for admission to University courses of study whose marks in the Public examination or whose marks after moderation are, of the total marks, not less than 40 per cent in English, 35 per cent in Vernacular Composition and in Elementary Mathematics, 40 per cent in one subject of Group C (such subject being either Algebra and Geometry, or Physics, or Chemistry, or English History) and 35 per cent in any other subject of that group.

2. A secondary school-leaving certificate holder who fails to obtain 35 per cent of the marks in Vernacular Composition or in Elementary Mathematics shall be eligible for admission, provided he obtains excess marks in English and the other subject taken together equal in number to twice the number of marks by which he is deficient in the subject in which he fails.

A secondary school-leaving certificate holder who fails to obtain 35 per cent of the marks in Vernacular Composition and in Elementary Mathematics shall be eligible for admission, provided he obtains excess marks in English equal in number to twice the total number of marks by which he is deficient in the two other subjects.

3. A secondary school-leaving certificate-holder who obtains 40 per cent of the marks in each of the four selected subjects in Group C but who fails to obtain 35 per cent of the marks in a second subject of that group shall be eligible for admission, provided that in the former subject he obtains excess marks equal in number to twice the number of marks by which he is deficient in the latter subject.

4. A secondary school-leaving certificate-holder who fails to obtain 35 per cent of marks in Vernacular Composition, or Elementary Mathematics, or in both, and also in a second subject of Group C may be declared eligible for admission, provided that he obtains excess marks as above both in the other subject or subjects in Group A and in the other subject of Group C.

V. In the case of certificates issued under the authority of Native States in the territorial jurisdiction of the University similar standards for admission will be applied.

VI. The moderation of the marks obtained by a holder of a secondary school leaving certificate for the purpose of the above rules will be effected as follows :—

The individual mark gained by him for the last year at school in each subject will be multiplied by the average mark for the school at the Public examination and the result divided by the average mark of his class for the last year at school. The figure thus obtained will be added to the individual mark gained by him at the Public Examination and the total will then be divided by two to obtain the final moderated mark.

VII. Hereafter candidates for admission to colleges, who are holders of certificates completed in a year previous to their candidature, must submit their certificates in this office for inspection not later than the 30th April. Every such certificate will be judged according to the rules in force for certificates completed in the year in which it is submitted for inspection except that in the case of certificates completed in 1916 or earlier the best performance in each subject in any year will be taken into consideration.

VIII. Any candidate for admission to University courses of study who in any year fails to qualify by reason of deficiency in any subject or subjects in which he has undergone examination will be required to undergo a supplementary course at school in all the subjects in which he appeared for the examination. He must again appear at the final examination in a future year in all such subjects, in which he has thus taken the supplementary school course, and his eligibility for admission will subsequently be determined as if he had then appeared for the examination for the first time.

IX. In all cases of certificates completed in the year 1917 and thereafter, and in all cases of matriculates the holders of which failed previously in any year to qualify for admission to University courses of study and have undergone supplementary courses at school during a succeeding school year, the eligibility of holders will be determined by the marks obtained during the last school year and examination only in such of the required subjects, viz., in the case of Madras certificates, the three subjects of Group A and two subjects of Group C of the school course.

X. Notwithstanding anything contained in the foregoing rules the Principals of Colleges for Women will be permitted to make admissions at their discretion of female holders of secondary school-leaving certificates whether or not the names of such holders of certificates are included in the published list of certificate holders eligible for admission in University courses of study. Certificate-holders so admitted to Colleges for Women will be registered as matriculates under Regulation 106 (a).

XI. The lists published annually in the Fort St. George Gazette will contain the names of all certificate-holders found to be eligible for admission to University courses of study in affiliated colleges, other than Colleges for Women, under the rules and directions issued by the Syndicate. It is, however, to be clearly understood that inclusion in the list confers on an certificate-holder the right of admission to any affiliated college. The Principals of colleges are at perfect liberty to restrict admissions to such applicants as they may select and are moreover required strictly to confine admission to such eligible certificate-holders as, judged by their certificates, may be expected to profit by the particular courses of study upon which they propose to enter in the college selected.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

ACCORDING to the scheme of taxation described by the Hon'ble Finance Member in his speech presenting the Financial Statement for 1917–18, it is necessary to obtain as a war measure an additional revenue of about £600,000 from goods traffic and the object of the present Bill is to give effect to that purpose. In view of the competition between inland steamers and the railways, it is considered that it is only equitable to apply the same taxation to traffic carried by inland steamers and vessels towed by them as to railway-borne traffic. For the surcharges which it is proposed to levy on goods traffic low rates have been adopted, as the Hon'ble Finance Member said, to reduce as far as possible the necessity of allowing variations or exceptions, but power is taken by the Bill to allow partial or complete exemptions, and the Government propose to use this power to exempt consignments which are less than one maund in weight, or which are carried for a distance of ten miles or less.

Proceedings of the Indian Legislative Council assembled under the provisions of the Government of India Act, 1915 (5 & 6 Geo. V, Ch. 61).

The Council met at the Council Chamber, Imperial Secretariat, Delhi, on Wednesday, the 7th March 1917.

PRESENT:

His Excellency BARON CHELMSFORD, P.C., G.M.S.I., G.M.I.E., G.C.M.G., Viceroy and Governor General, presiding, and 54 Members, of whom 49 were Additional Members.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

The Hon'ble MIR ASAD ALI, Khan Bahadur asked:—

1. "Do Government propose to consider the advisability of making elementary education free, at least in Municipal areas in each of the provinces as soon as conditions permit after the war is over?"

The Hon'ble Sir C. SANKARAN NAIR replied:—

"The Government of India have not under consideration any scheme for making elementary education free after the war, but they do not wish to interfere in the discretion already possessed by Local Governments and local Bodies to take such steps in respect of particular areas and classes when this may be considered educationally and financially desirable."

The Hon'ble MIR ASAD ALI, Khan Bahadur asked:—

2. "What action, if any, has been taken on the memorandum re post war reforms which was submitted to His Excellency the Viceroy in September last by certain non-official Additional Members of the Imperial Legislative Council?"

The Hon'ble Sir REGINALD CRADDOCK replied:—

"It has been ascertained that the opinions of the gentlemen who signed the memorandum were duly laid before His Excellency as desired."

The Hon'ble MIR ASAD ALI, Khan Bahadur asked:—

3. "Have the Government made any declaration under section 96-A of the Government of India Act, 1915, and has any subject of a Native State been appointed to any office, civil or military since the passing of that Act? If so, what is the number of such appointments?"

The Hon'ble Sir REGINALD CRADDOCK replied:—

"The answers to the first two parts of the question are in the negative."

The Hon'ble MIR ASAD ALI, Khan Bahadur asked:—

4. "With reference to my question re non-official bills, resolutions and supplementary questions, dated 27th September 1916, will Government be pleased to obtain the required information from Local Governments too and place it on the table as early as possible?"

The Hon'ble Mr G. R. LOWNDES replied:—

"The Government of India are not prepared to call upon Local Governments to undertake the preparation of the returns asked for, as, in their opinion, the expenditure of time and labour involved would not be justified by the utility of the result."

The Hon'ble RAI SITA NATH RAY Bahadur asked:—

5. "(a) What is the constitution, scope and method of work of the newly established Munitions Board?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to consider whether it would not be conducive to the proper and smooth working of the Board if one or two Indian merchants were appointed as members of the Board?"

His Excellency the COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF in India replied:—

"The constitution and objects of the Munitions Board have been described briefly in the Gazette of India Notification No. 233 of 16th February 1917. The details of its methods of work are now under consideration, but they must necessarily be moulded according to experience to meet our essential requirements in munitions of war. The members of the Board, except the officer representing the Financial Department as Financial Adviser, will be in direct administrative control of appropriate groups of munition supplies. They will be responsible directly to the President of the Board, who will be assisted by technical advisers, with the intention of developing or inaugurating in the country industries that will enable us to be more completely self-contained and independent of over-seas supplies.

The President hopes that opportunities for accepting the co-operation of both Indian and European commercial industrialists will frequently occur. Many of those who are obviously suitable are, however, already engaged in their private capacity in controlling concerns that are important agencies for manufacturing munitions and stores. But he hopes to persuade others who are not so entirely engaged, and who are free to suspend their competing private interests to give up their time for entire occupation in positions either of advice or of active control of appropriate sections of work. The Government do not propose to give the President any special instructions for the purpose of discriminating between Indian and European candidates for employment. His sympathies with Indian industrialists are well-known, and we can rely on his taking every opportunity possible of utilising the services of the commercial community consistent with their private interests."

The Hon'ble Mr. BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked:—

5. (a) "Have the Government, in accordance with the provisions of section 6 of Bengal Regulation III of 1818, received reports from officers in charge of State prisoners regarding the unsatisfactory state of health of such prisoners and the inadequacy of the allowances granted to them or their families?

(b) If so, in how many cases were such reports received, and what steps have the Government taken on them?"

The Hon'ble Sir REGINALD CRADDOCK replied:—

"The reports required under section 6 of the Regulation from the officer in whose custody State prisoners are placed as soon after taking such prisoners into their custody as may be practicable have been duly received in all but seven cases in regard to which they will shortly be received. These reports were satisfactory in the case of all but one man who was subsequently released from custody.

The officers in charge of these prisoners are not in a position to report as to the adequacy of the allowances fixed for the maintenance of their families, and separate reports on this subject are being received."

The Hon'ble Mr. KAMINI KUMAR CHANDA asked:—

7. "(a) Is it a fact that, while the Defence of India Act is being very widely applied in Bengal by the Local Government, the Government of India continue to take action in the Province under Bengal Regulation III of 1818?

(b) Is it a fact that in Bombay and Madras, respectively, the corresponding Regulation is administered by the Local Government?

(c) If the answer to (b) is in the affirmative, will the Government be pleased to consider the desirability of assimilating the practice in Bengal to that of Bombay and Madras, and to state the special reasons, if any, for making any differentiation?

(d) What is the number of deportees under the Regulations in Bengal since the Defence of India Act came to be enforced in the Province, and the total number of persons interned in the said Province under the Act up to now?

(e) Is it a fact that a resolution moved by Mr. Ramsay Macdonald, M.P., in the House of Commons condemning the practice of deporting persons without trial was passed by Parliament?

(f) Is the same treatment meted out to deportees under the Regulation now as that which was accorded to such deportees in 1908? If there is a difference in such treatment, will the Government be pleased to state whether it is not less liberal now than before, and if so, the special reasons justifying such differential treatment?"

The Hon'ble Sir REGINALD CRADDOCK replied:—

"(a) and (b) The answer is in the affirmative.

(c) The Regulations in question date from a time when the Governor General in Council directly administered Bengal, and the relations between the Local Governments and the Government of India had not assumed their present shape. The practice to which the Hon'ble Member refers is statutory and Government do not contemplate legislation in order to change it.

(d) There are no deportees under the Regulation in Bengal, but the number who have been held under restraint under it since the Defence of India Act came into force is 92 and the number of persons whose movements have been restricted under the Defence of India Act is 699.

(e) It is believed that the Resolution to which the Hon'ble Member refers is one which had reference to the action taken by the Government of the Union of South Africa in dealing with certain labour troubles in 1913. The course then taken by the Union Government was in effect to suspend the constitution of South Africa by proclaiming Martial Law, and then to deport nine of the labour leaders to England, subsequently legalising their proceedings by passing an Indemnity Act. The action of the Government, which had no foundation in the law of the land, was at the time the subject of considerable criticism in Parliament, and may fairly be said to have been condemned by the resolution in question. The Government of India are unable, however, to accept the suggestion of the Hon'ble Member that there is any parallel between this case and the action of the executive Government in India in putting into force in suitable cases a Regulation which is part of the law of India.

(f) The same treatment is accorded to those recently dealt with under Regulation III of 1818 as was accorded to those similarly dealt with in 1908."

The Hon'ble Mr. KAMINI KUMAR CHANDA asked:—

8. "(a) Have the Government received a telegram from the Secretary of State asking the Government to consider and report upon the recommendations of the Public Services Commission?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to indicate the line of action proposed to be adopted in dealing with the said recommendations?

(c) Will the Local Governments be invited to express their opinions before any action is taken by the Government of India? If so, will the Government of India direct the Local Governments to consult non-official Indian opinion*?

(d) Will any portion or portions of the Commission's recommendations be referred to any Committee for further consideration and report? If so, will the Government be pleased to appoint non-official Indians to such Committee?"

The Hon'ble Sir REGINALD CRADDOCK replied:—

"In communicating the Report the Secretary of State requested that the Commission's recommendations should be expeditiously dealt with, and that he should be placed on possession of the Government of India's conclusions regarding them as early as possible. The procedure which the Government of India, with his approval, have decided to follow, was explained in His Excellency the Viceroy's speech on the 7th of February last, but a detailed description is contained in the Home Department letter of the 25th January to Local Governments and Administrations a copy of which is placed on the table.* The Government of India have no doubt that the Local Governments will be careful to ascertain non-official opinion, including that of representative Indians, on all important questions where it will be of assistance, and they consider that the occasion and method of such consultation may safely be left in the Local Governments' discretion."

The Hon'ble Mr. KAMINI KUMAR CHANDA asked:—

9. "(a) Have the Government of India received a memorial from Indian residents of Shillong protesting against the decision of the Local Administration which, while introducing the Criminal Procedure Code in Shillong, declares the Hon'ble Chief Commissioner to be the High Court and the Commissioner of Surma Valley Division to be the Sessions Judge for Shillong in criminal cases?

(b) Is it not a fact that the residents of the British portion of Shillong largely consist of educated men from Provinces where such a novel provision is unknown?

(c) Is it not a fact that a resolution was moved in the Local Council which was supported by all the non-official Indian members of the Council, elected as well as nominated, asking that the town of Shillong be brought under the jurisdiction of the Calcutta High Court?

(d) If the answer to (a) be in the affirmative, will the Government be pleased to take the prayer of the memorialists into favourable consideration, and bring the town under the jurisdiction of the Calcutta High Court?

(e) Is it not a fact that the European British subjects in Shillong are under the jurisdiction of the Calcutta High Court?"

The Hon'ble Sir REGINALD CRADDOCK replied:—

"(a) and (d). The Government of India received through the Chief Commissioner of Assam a memorial purporting to be from the Khasis, but actually signed only by one man, in the terms mentioned by the Hon'ble Member, and after due consideration rejected it previously to receipt of the questions under reply. They regret that they are unable to reconsider the decision reached.

(b) The Government of India are not in a position to say whether the Hon'ble Member's statement of fact is correct.

(c) It is understood that such a resolution was moved and lost by ten votes to eight. The Government of India are not aware whether all the non-official members of the Assam Legislative Council supported it.

(e) The answer is in the affirmative in so far as criminal proceedings against them are concerned."

The Hon'ble Mr. K. V. RANGASWAMI AYYANGAR asked:—

10. "(a) Is it a fact that many Railway Companies charge only a reasonable rent for European refreshment rooms in Railway Stations, but let out Indian refreshment rooms by auction to the highest bidder?

(b) If so, will Government consider the expediency of charging only reasonable rent for Indian refreshment rooms in the same manner as for European refreshment rooms?"

The Hon'ble Sir ROBERT GILLAN replied —

"Inquiries have been made and it appears that the great majority of railways charge either no rent at all or only a small rent whether for European or Indian refreshment rooms. On the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway no rent is charged for European refreshment rooms and Indian refreshment rooms are auctioned. The European refreshment rooms, however, are given under contract to one firm who are bound under agreement to open refreshment rooms where required by the railway company irrespective of their proving profitable or not and to provide their own inspectors. Indian refreshment rooms are let individually, the contracts being allowed to continue indefinitely if found to be satisfactory, and the railway company maintains inspectors. The conditions therefore differ in the two cases. The Government do not propose to take any action."

* Not included in these Proceedings.

The Hon'ble Mr. K. V. RANGASWAMI AYYANGAR asked:—

11. "(a) Is it not a fact that at the meeting of this Council on the 1st October 1915 Lord Hardinge said: 'I propose, therefore, unless some unforeseen occasion arises, not to have any meeting of the Legislative Council in the coming cold weather until the middle of February. * * * I trust that you will understand that, in taking this course, I am actuated solely by the desire to avoid personal inconvenience to Hon'ble Members and unnecessary dislocation of business. Further, to allay any idea that this procedure may, in future years, be regarded as a precedent for postponing the opening meeting of the cold weather Session, I may add that there are no grounds for such a misapprehension'.

(b) Is it a fact that the Delhi Session has always a crowded programme? If so, will Government resume the Delhi Session from January?"

The Hon'ble Mr. G. R. LOWNDES replied:—

"(a) The answer is in the affirmative.

(b) The Government have no reason to believe that adequate time has not been allotted for any business transacted in this Council during the Delhi Session. So long as the war lasts, Government do not think it necessary to summon the Council before the beginning of February."

The Hon'ble NAWAB SAIYID NAWAB ALI CHAUDHURY, Khan Bahadur asked:—

12. "Will the Government be pleased to state:—

(a) in what stage the Dacca University Scheme is at present,

(b) when they propose to introduce a Bill for the establishment of the said University,

(c) what allotments were made from time to time for its establishment, and

(d) how much has been actually spent on preliminary arrangements connected with it?"

The Hon'ble Sir C. SANKARAN NAIR replied:—

"(a) & (b) Further action has been postponed until the report of the Commission to be appointed to inquire into the affairs of the Calcutta University has been received.

(c) The following grants have been made from time to time by the Imperial Government towards the cost of the scheme:—

	Capital.		Recurring.
	Rs.		Rs.
April 1912 . .	10,00,000	April 1912 . .	45,000
March 1913 . .	15,00,000	March 1913 . .	5,00,000
		November 1914 . .	1,00,000
			(Sanctioned for 5 years from 1914-15 to 1918-19)
Total . .	25,00,000		6,45,000

(d) The expenditure up to the end of 1914-15 was Rs. 30,176, and it was anticipated that Rs. 4,46,000 would be spent in 1915-16 Beyond this the Government of India have no definite information."

The Hon'ble Sir IBRAHIM RAHIMTOOLA asked:—

13. "Have Government received the opinions of Local Governments and public and other bodies consulted on the question of State versus Company management of State Railways in India?

If so, will Government be pleased to place all such opinions on the table?"

The Hon'ble Sir ROBERT GILLAN replied:—

"Opinions were called for from 15 Local Governments and Administrations and from 22 public bodies Replies have been sent in by all those consulted, except the Governments of Madras and Bombay and the Indian Chamber of Commerce, Lahore.

The replies * so far as received are placed on the table."

The Hon'ble Sir IBRAHIM RAHIMTOOLA asked:—

14. "Will Government be pleased to supply full and detailed information as regards the quantity, price, period of supply, etc., of Indian coal purchased by them for war purposes?"

His Excellency the COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF in India replied:—

"The information asked for by the Hon'ble Member cannot be given, as it would be contrary to the public interest to do so at the present juncture."

The Hon'ble Sir IBRAHIM RAHIMTOOLA asked:—

15. "(1) Is it a fact that the Government of India have been able to make special arrangements for the supply from India for war purposes to His Majesty's Government, or to the Governments of His Majesty's Allies, of the following classes of war material:—

(a) Manufactured jute.

(b) Iron, steel and munitions.

* Not included in these Proceedings.

(2) (a) Is it a fact that the arrangements in question were such as to enable a considerable saving to the Allied Governments as compared with the cost of obtaining these articles in the open market in India or elsewhere?

(b) Can the Government state approximately what the amount of this saving has been up to date?

(3) Are there any other important articles required for war purposes in respect of which similar special arrangements have been made, and, if so, will the Government be pleased to state what the approximate saving to the Allied Governments has been by reason of such arrangements?"

His Excellency the COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF in India replied:—

"The Government of India have been able to assist His Majesty's Government from the resources of India in many directions, but it is not in the public interests that any details should be made public at the present juncture."

The Hon'ble Sir IBRAHIM RAHIMTOOLA asked:—

16. "What is the total number of persons (including firms, joint-stock and other companies, etc.), assessed to Income-tax in British India for incomes—

(a) between Rs. 5,000 and 9,999,

(b) between Rs. 10,000 and 24,999, and

(c) of Rs. 25,000 and upwards?"

The Hon'ble Sir WILLIAM MEYER replied:—

"In 1915-16, the latest year for which statistics are available, 24,393 persons, firms, etc., paid income-tax on incomes between Rs. 5,000 and Rs. 9,999. The number of assessees in 1915-16, with incomes between Rs. 10,000 and Rs. 24,999, and of Rs. 25,000 and upwards, is not separately known, as these limits were not adopted for the classification of incomes in the income-tax returns prior to the current year. The forms prescribed for the returns have now been revised so as to show these limits, but the figures required by the Hon'ble Member will not be available till some time after the close of the current financial year for which the new returns will be first used. I may mention, however, that 11,378 persons, firms, etc., paid income-tax in 1915-16 on incomes of Rs. 10,000 to Rs. 29,999 and 2,336 on incomes of Rs. 30,000 and over."

The Hon'ble Sir IBRAHIM RAHIMTOOLA asked:—

17. "Will Government be pleased to state whether the system of company management of State-owned railways prevails in any country in the world other than India and if so, to furnish the names of such countries?"

The Hon'ble Sir ROBERT GILLAN replied:—

"The only country in which, so far as the Government are aware, the railways owned by the State are leased to companies is Holland. On the report of a Commission appointed in that country to investigate the question in the year 1903, the States General rejected the proposal that the railways owned by the State should be operated by the State, and decided that the State-owned railways should continue under company management.

With regard to State-owned railways in France, the Railway Board have not got full information, but in the year 1883 most of the railway mileage purchased or built by the State was incorporated in companies' systems, and conventions were concluded between the State and companies on the basis of close co-operation between the State and companies."

The Hon'ble Sir IBRAHIM RAHIMTOOLA asked:—

18. "(a) Is it a fact that the Government of India have been required by the Home Government to supply 400,000 tons of wheat to Great Britain, Russia and France during recent months.

(b) If so, will Government be pleased to state—

(i) the quantity supplied to each country;

(ii) the price charged and whether it was based on the actual cost to Government or on the current market rates prevailing in each country supplied; and

(iii) if the former, the total difference in amount between the price charged and the current market rates prevailing in the country supplied?"

The Hon'ble Sir CLAUDE HILL replied:—

"The reply to (a) is in the negative. As, however, the Hon'ble Member's question exhibits the existence of certain misconceptions regarding the wheat transactions, I may explain what has happened. Considerable purchases of wheat have been made in India in the last few months by a Royal Commission appointed in England, but all these purchases have been made in the open market through the agency of the firms which ordinarily engage in this business. The Government of India have not been concerned with these transactions, except in so far as it was necessary to restrict them in order to prevent an undue rise in internal prices. In specifying the figures of 400,000 tons the Hon'ble Member presumably refers to the statement made in a Reuter's telegram in November last that this amount would be exported in the period November—January. I take this opportunity of explaining that the above figure was merely an estimate of the surplus that would probably be available for export from India in the three months November 1916 to January 1917. The actual exports fell considerably short of this estimate."

The Hon'ble Sir ABDUR RAHIMTOOLA asked:—

19. "Will Government be pleased to state whether it is their intention to publish immediately on the conclusion of peace, employing a special agency for the purpose, if necessary, a full and complete report of the contributions made by India in various ways towards the prosecution of the present war?"

The Hon'ble Sir REGINALD CRADDOCK replied:—

"Government readily accept the Hon'ble Member's suggestion which coincides with their own views of what is desirable. They will endeavour to make the report as complete as possible, and to secure its issue as soon as possible after the war is over. They do not feel certain, however, that the employment of any special agency will be necessary as the information will be all available in the records of the various departments of the Government of India and in those of the Local Governments. But if it becomes clear that the compilation requires the assistance of special agency, they will have no hesitation in employing it."

THE INDIAN TARIFF (AMENDMENT) BILL

The Hon'ble Sir WILLIAM MEYER:—"My Lord, I beg to move that the Bill further to amend the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, be taken into consideration.

"I have explained the objects and scope of this Bill in my speech introducing the Financial Statement and in my further speech introducing the Bill itself, and I need not add anything more now, especially as, although the Bill has been published for the information of the public, we have received no objections thereto.

"I beg to move that the Bill be taken into consideration."

The Hon'ble Mr. M. B. DAMANIA:—"My Lord, the Council will have another opportunity of congratulating the Finance Minister on the general features of his Budget, but I feel quite certain that there ought to be no opposition to the principle embodied in this Bill. The scheme of taxation now devised is in entire consonance with the repeated suggestions of the people and the non-official Members of this Council. This Council is fully aware that the public opinion in this country has all along insisted on the Government imposing a reasonable tariff, not only for the purpose of meeting revenue deficits, but also for the protection it unquestionably affords to our indigenous industries. I shall take the liberty of drawing the attention of this Council to the statement which I made last year when the Tariff Bill came up for consideration. I then said that 'the Indian public will only look forward with hope to the maintenance of the increased scale of import duties for a sufficiently long time. Should the Hon'ble Sir William Meyer's estimate of our future liabilities prove correct, all the additional revenue required may be easily had by judicious handling of the tariff. We should be ready to support Government if after a few years the duties now imposed have to be further enhanced.' Unfortunately, My Lord, this necessity has come much sooner than I then anticipated.

"My Lord, the Bill before us will therefore command general approval, though the necessity for fresh taxation is undoubtedly regrettable. The principle of taxation devised in this Bill is a distinct indication of the sign that the Government is more and more in touch with the popular opinion, and that it has come to the conclusion that its future policy in the matter of taxation shall be, as far as practicable, in the direction of a well-considered system of protective tariffs. It is needless to remind the Council that a revision of the tariff has all along been demanded by public opinion whether or not such revision is absolutely necessary in the exigencies of our public finance. It must be conceded that, when new and additional taxation has been unavoidably forced upon the country by the exigencies of this great war, both considerations of policy and expediency justify the enhancement of tariffs, instead of a levy of other imposts which would fall oppressively on the masses. The most agreeable feature of this Bill is, that the tariffs have been so skilfully revised and re-adjusted as to secure the largest portion of the revenue from classes who have been materially benefited by the war, and who are able to bear the additional strain and burden without serious inconvenience, and who owe their business prosperity materially to the security afforded by the British Navy for free and uninterrupted international commerce even in these anxious and troublesome times.

"Last year several of my Hon'ble colleagues vigorously pointed out in this Council that the Government had not raised the duty on imported cotton goods, and that omission was viewed with keen disappointment by the country, but it is a matter of great satisfaction that the Finance Minister, in conformity with his sympathetic assurances then given, has now succeeded in inducing His Majesty's Government to raise the import duty on cotton goods from 3½ per cent which is our present general tariff rate to 7½ per cent. I am confident that this action of His Majesty's Government will meet with the greatest appreciation in India. There is not the slightest apprehension that by this additional duty the Lancashire industry will be handicapped or affected in any manner, but one thing is absolutely certain that this country will be protected against the unfair competition of cheap foreign piece-goods. It will undoubtedly further enhance the prestige of His Majesty's Government in having at last redressed a real and portentous grievance. The decision of Government to double the rates of export duties on raw jute and jute manufactures is equally satisfactory and gratifying. Hon'ble Members who were in this Council last year will remember that I had brought forward a Resolution in the nature of an amendment to the Tariff Bill then introduced that the export duties proposed to be imposed on raw jute and manufactures be doubled, but I was not fortunate enough to receive any encouragement or support from the Finance Minister, and I was therefore compelled to withdraw my amendment. I am glad that the Hon'ble the Finance Minister has now come to my way of thinking, and has seen the advisability of doubling the duty on these articles. I feel certain that this enhanced duty will not be severely felt by the people dealing in jute who have already made enormous profits, and who have fortunately escaped from a more unpleasant form of impost—I mean excess profits tax.

"Not unlike the outgoing year the new taxation will be realised from trade to a considerable extent. The Finance Minister's statement regarding the new sources of revenue has been already very favourably received by the various trade unions and associations, and by the influential commercial communities of Calcutta and Bombay. But I feel constrained to point out that, though the scheme of taxation is, on the whole eminently satisfactory, still such an expert financier as Sir William Meyer has left room for some slight disappointment. I am sorry he is not yet converted to the widely held view that an export duty on cotton would be both suitable and justifiable, while it would not affect the cultivator. He had an excellent opportunity this year of trying at least tentatively that form of impost. In any case, I feel certain that the introduction of that tax would have made his Budget infinitely more popular, secured the extra revenue he requires, and obviated the necessity of a super-tax, which is not quite suitable to Indian conditions ...."

His Excellency the PRESIDENT:—"I would draw the Hon'ble Member's attention to the fact that that point is not before the Council."

The Hon'ble Mr. M. B. DADABHOY:—"But, My Lord, having regard to the existing political and financial situation, this would be an inopportune time to protest against any particular taxation. The Government must be supported and allowed the greatest latitude and the widest discretion. Though we one and all deeply deplore an additional taxation this year, the uncertainties of the financial and military situation and our prospective obligations have solely necessitated the same. It is true that it may seem even paradoxical, that in a year of huge surplus this Government should levy fresh taxation, but, as the Finance Minister wisely pointed out 'The necessity for ample resources in the present year and during the twelve months to come will, however, be still more evident to those who study our Ways and Means position with attention, and thus realize that it is not necessarily on the revenue side that our chief difficulties lie.' In view of all this, however unwilling I may be otherwise to support any scheme of additions to our existing taxes, I feel it my duty to accord my support to this measure."

The Hon'ble Rai Bahadur BISHAN DUTT SHUKUL:—"My Lord, as has been so rightly pointed out by my colleague, the Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy, the present Tariff Amendment Bill has been most welcome to the whole country as a wholesome departure in the fiscal policy of the Government. The popular view has at last gained ground and received the support of both the Finance Member as well as the Government of India. The raising of the import duty on cotton goods from 3½ to 7½ per cent has removed a long-standing grievance. It will save the country from the pernicious effect of unfair competition. It is now the earnest desire of the Indian public that, as soon as the circumstances will permit, the countervailing excise duty on cotton should be abolished.

"This duty, My Lord, has already proved to be a clog to industry, and as such the sooner it is done away with the better it would be. The assurances given by the Hon'ble the Finance Member led me to hope that the matter has been engaging the careful attention of the Government of India, and that ere long the duty will be abolished.

"At the present stage any taxation levied with a view to get surplus revenue to meet the exorbitant expenditure of war should receive unanimous support of us all. Whatever sources of revenue could be tapped without causing unnecessary hardship, and without disturbing the general conditions of trade and commerce of our country, the Government would be justly entitled to them, and it should be our bounden duty to lend our unanimous support thereto.

"I would have taken this opportunity of pressing on the attention of the Government the desirability of the exclusion of machinery imported for agricultural and industrial development from the Tariff Schedule in the interest of our poor agriculturists, but I have refrained from doing so, as such exclusion, at the present moment, would cause certain inconvenience to the Government. However, I may hope and trust that when, after the termination of this war, the question of the revision of the wholesale Tariff Act would be taken up, this matter will not be overlooked.

"With these few words, My Lord, I beg to support the motion now before us."

The Hon'ble Rao Bahadur B. N. SARMA:—"My Lord, I may be permitted to congratulate Your Excellency's Government, and the Hon'ble the Finance Member, in particular for manfully fighting the battle of India, and securing a measure of justice from His Majesty's Government. We know that the battle has been fought strenuously and for many a long year in the secret Councils of the Empire—possibly without our knowing it then; but at last the advice of the Government of India has borne fruit. I should have congratulated His Majesty's Government if this announcement had been made last year. I only thank them this year. I cannot help saying that if this announcement had been made last year under different circumstances, the impression which would have been created on the public mind would have been immense. I treat this additional taxation, My Lord, as a financial reserve in this momentous crisis through which we are passing, and in that view, I cordially support the motion."

The Hon'ble Raja Sir RAMPAL SINGH:—"My Lord, I beg to rise to extend my whole-hearted support to the Tariff Amendment Bill that is before the Council. It is needless for me to say that the Bill provides in unmistakeable manner the oft-repeated wishes of the people of this country with regard to tariff, and I cannot but congratulate the Government of India on the happy measure that they are going to pass in order to augment the revenues of India, with a view to meet the extra charges which the proposed war contribution would entail on them. It is a matter of great satisfaction that the Government have since some time seen their way to introduce a reform in the tariff whereby some protection will be afforded to indigenous industries, and I am sure the Bill, when passed into law, will be hailed with joy in this country. My Lord, there is nothing like unmixed good in this world, and it is possible here and there a dissentient voice might be raised that the burden of import duties on cotton piece-goods would fall on our poor people, and that export duty on jute might have a detrimental effect on the agricultural industry of that commodity. I lay no claim to be an expert on such matters, but I must say that I do not share these misgivings with any feeling of uneasiness. As a layman I strongly believe that India needs protection for her industries, and it ought to be a matter of great consolation to all of us that the Government of India have not only accepted that principle, but are gradually introducing it into practice. As for the export duties on jute, the assurances of the Finance Member are more than enough that they will fall on the customers outside the country without in any way affecting its agricultural industry: I wish the countervailing excise duties on cotton piece-goods could have been abolished, because the country has been clamouring for their abolition since a long, long time, and they are not defensible on grounds of equity and justice. However, the feelings of sympathy given expression to by the Finance Member last year in that direction go a far way to inspire hope in us that when after the war the trade relations between India and foreign countries will be re-adjusted, our wishes, as well as our needs and requirements, will be fully considered in the light of our best interests. With these few words, My Lord, I accord my cordial support to the Bill."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Sir WILLIAM MEYER:—"I now move, My Lord, that the Bill be passed and I will only add that it is a source of great gratification to the Government to find that the taxes imposed by the Bill have been so warmly received."

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE INDIAN INCOME-TAX (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Hon'ble Sir WILLIAM MEYER:—"My Lord, I beg to present the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Indian Income-tax Act, 1886, and also to move Your Excellency to suspend the Rules of Business to admit of the Report of the Select Committee being taken into consideration."

His Excellency the PRESIDENT:—"I suspend the Rules of Business."

The Hon'ble Sir WILLIAM MEYER:—"My Lord, I explained the scope of this Bill on the 1st instant as being a measure for the improvement of our machinery, any radical amendment of the Income-tax Act being left over, as I said in my speech introducing the Financial Statement, to a time of greater leisure. I need only draw attention now to the amendment of clause 4 of the Bill in Select Committee. As I said in my introducing speech, we consider it improper to allow a statutory right of objection to assessment by a person who is still defying a statutory order to declare his income, or as it was put very succinctly in legal language by my Hon'ble friend Mr. Lowndes in the Select Committee a Court ought not to admit to hearing a person who remains in contempt. Such contempt might, however, be really accidental, due to circumstances which admitted of satisfactory explanation. We have, therefore, altered the clause so as to confine the disqualification to wilful non-compliance with the requirements of any notice served under section 14-A of the Income-tax Act.

"I now move that the Report of the Select Committee be taken into consideration."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Rao Bahadur B. N. SARMA:—"My Lord, I move as an amendment that at the end of clause 4 the following be added :—

'or in case of non-compliance shows sufficient cause to be excused by the Collector, or pays a penalty of Rs. 10.'

Hon'ble Members will see that the object of my amendment is to secure to the assessee a right to apply to the Collector the assessing authority, for revision of the assessment made by him. The Hon'ble the Finance Minister stated that ordinarily if a person refuses to submit a statement in accordance with the law, he has no grievance, if the Collector, acting upon such information as he may possess, invokes the aid of the machinery provided by the Act, inasmuch as the person would be guilty of contempt in the first instance. But on later consideration it was resolved that where a person could show that he did not wilfully disobey the mandate or request of the Collector to submit a return, he should be given this right of appealing for revision of assessment. We thankfully accept the amendment that has been suggested by the Select Committee. But my submission is that this amendment does not go far enough, and is likely in practice to prove ineffectual—I may even go so far as to say, to deny justice in a large number of cases. I would not attribute the slightest motive to assessing officers, but I say the Collector might unconsciously, in arriving at a decision, be prejudiced by the fact that the person who comes before him has been guilty of disobeying his injunctions in the first instance, and it would leave in the public mind an impression that justice has been denied by the revenue authority, who happens also to be interested or is supposed to be interested in the result, that justice has been denied to the subject on the pretext that the subject has been guilty of knowingly and wilfully failing to comply with the request. Hon'ble Members will see that power has been taken already in this Bill to punish such contempt, by putting the man before a Magistrate and getting him convicted with a fine of Rs. 10 for every day of default. I should think that that punishment to which the subject would render himself liable would be a sufficient deterrent, or ought to be a sufficient deterrent, and there ought not to be the slightest difficulty in the way of the Collector getting such wilful and knowing failures punished. My Lord, I submit that the border line is very difficult to be drawn, and that justice would be met by asking the man who fails to make a return to pay a penalty of Rs. 10 or some sum that may be fixed by this Council, and allow him to prosecute his petition instead of asking him to show positively that the default was not wilful. I put the sum at Rs. 10 because the lowest assessment is Rs. 20, and I thought that 50 per cent of the assessment would not be unduly low. It may be that if we take the super-tax into consideration, the sum of Rs. 10 may appear to be practically insignificant: that is the difficulty of dealing with a subject like this in which the Super-tax Bill and the Income-tax Bill are practically incorporated together. But apart from that, my submission is that some sum may be fixed by the Council (I think Rs. 10 is reasonable having regard to the penalties which a man would subject himself to) by way of penalty, and that an impression might not be allowed to be created that the executive are taking to themselves very wide powers unduly with a view to raise revenue. My Lord, I remember thirty years ago, shortly after the Income-tax Act was passed, how in almost every conference and every meeting the subject of Income-tax assessment and administration was the theme of discussion and complaint and of resolution. There was hardly a meeting in which this subject was not dealt with, but luckily, owing to the raising of the minimum amount, there has not been latterly the same outcry. I hope the legislature will not allow by the granting of such wide powers to the executive the creation of another political trouble, because I feel that, unless the rules are relaxed and the assessee is allowed to have his say, an impression would be created that justice is denied for the sake of revenue. I, therefore, respectfully submit that my amendment may be accepted."

The Hon'ble Pandit MADAN MOHAN MALAVIYA:—"My Lord, I suggested the omission of this section 4 in the Select Committee, and I think I should briefly state my reasons for doing so. This, My Lord, is a new measure which is being introduced at present to simplify the procedure under the Income-tax Act in certain matters only. I understand it is in contemplation to revise the Income-tax Act at an early date, and I suggest that at this time the section might be left as it is in the existing Act. Under the Income-tax Act matters relating to the assessment of income are dealt with by the Revenue Officers of Government. They do not go before a regular Court of Justice, and I think that for this reason alone, such opportunities as are given to the public under the existing Act to have an assessment duly considered by the Collector should not be restricted. It is true that the words 'unless he has knowingly and wilfully failed to comply with the requirements of the notice' do not entirely take away that opportunity, but I fear that the new provision will give rise to false statements being put before a Magistrate, pleas of illness, and what not, in order to satisfy him that the man had not knowingly and wilfully failed to comply with the requirements of the notice, and it will be very hard for a Magistrate to be satisfied in many cases that the applicant had not knowingly and wilfully failed to comply with the notice. The advantage to be gained on one side is very slight, and on the contrary, the inconvenience to the person concerned in having the assessment made on him considered by a Magistrate will be serious. Perhaps he will have to engage a lawyer; perhaps he will have to set up some persons as witnesses to establish that he was not to blame, etc. The balance of the advantage that is likely to be gained by the addition of the new provision will be small compared to the inconvenience and possible injustice which may result from it. For these reasons, I support the suggestion that section 4 should be omitted for the present, and that when we are revising the Act as a whole, this might be considered....."

The Hon'ble Mr. G. R. LOWNDES:—"My Lord, I rise to a point of order. There is a specific amendment moved by the Hon'ble Mr. Sarma, and I understood that the Hon'ble Pandit was speaking to it, but now he is practically moving another amendment, to the effect that the whole clause be omitted."

The Hon'ble Pandit MADAN MOHAN MALAVIYA:—"I am sorry, My Lord, I did not note Mr. Sarma's amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. BHUPENDRA NATH BASU:—"My Lord, it does seem to me, and I think it must seem to others also who may be affected by the provisions of this Bill, that the Government is providing a two-fold penalty. In the first place, My Lord, there is section 34 of the existing Act by which certain offences are made punishable. We are including in that list the offence of not submitting a return in time. Consequently under section 34 a person who fails to make a return will be called upon to incur the penalty thereby provided and that, it has been pointed out, may extend to Rs. 10 for every day in which the default continues. Then comes a second stage. Not having made the return, the Collector makes his assessment and we have, under the law as it now stands, the right to put in a petition of objection to the Collector's assessment. This petition, as it must be known to the Hon'ble the Finance Member, in first of all disposed of by the Collector, and then, if the party is dissatisfied, he may go up to the Commissioner and, further, to the Board of Revenue. What now is proposed to be done is this, that the person assessed will be deprived of his right of objection, unless he has put in a return at the first stage, or unless he has knowingly and wilfully failed to comply with the requirements of any notice served upon him under section 14A. Well, My Lord, in the first case, where I fail to submit my return, I am brought up before a Magistrate. I have got there a Judicial Officer deciding the question as to whether I should or should not be fined in the circumstances of the case. That is an understandable position. There the Revenue Officer takes proceedings against the assessee and the Judicial Officer decides the case, and the whole case is decided between themselves. But here the protection of a Judicial Officer is done away with, and here all that the party had got to do is either to have his petition of objection rejected, or to satisfy the Collector, who is the Revenue Officer, that he had not knowingly and wilfully failed to comply with the requirements. I say nothing against the Collector. My Lord, but is it fair to the Collector who has got to make his collections of revenue and who is often-times overburdened with a heavy amount of work, specially in presidency-towns, is it fair to ask him to decide between the assessee and his own department as to whether the assessee has knowingly and wilfully made the default? My Lord, if I may without impertinence appeal to the experience of Your Lordship and also of the Hon'ble the Law Member, the question of wilful default and neglect is one of the most thorny questions in law, and you throw the whole burden of this upon the Collector who has to decide the matter as between himself and the assessee. He may decide rightly and he may say to the assessee that he has wilfully and knowingly failed. But would that decision satisfy the assessee? Is it not one of the elementary principles in the administration of law that not only should the law be justly administered, but the person who is affected should also feel that it is justly administered? Would I feel that I have got justice before a Collector? Would I be satisfied that the Collector has decided fairly in my case if I were the assessee that I had knowingly and wilful failed? I think, therefore, My Lord, that it is investing too great a power in the Collector, and, in the second place, I think that the investing of this power at present is not necessary. These difficulties always happen when we are amending an Act in instalments as it were, and we do not foresee the difficulties, or the practical effects of which we cannot anticipate. Therefore, having regard to these difficulties, and having regard to the fact that the finances are sufficiently protected by the penal provisions already existing in the Act, I would support the amendment brought forward by my Hon'ble friend, and I would respectfully appeal to the conscience of the Finance Department, if that Department has any conscience at all, I would respectfully appeal to their sentiment that, until we take up the whole Act for revision, to let this remain. I say, My Lord, 'sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof,' and you have brought in enough taxation even to satisfy the insatiable appetite of the Finance Department."

The Hon'ble Mr. G. R. Lowndes:—"I think my Hon'ble friends a little forget that what we want in this case is the return and not the penalty, and that the payment of a penalty is an adequate recompense for not getting the return upon which the income has to be assessed, and therefore really what we want to insist on by every means possible is that people shall make their returns. From every one to whom one of these forms is sent out we want to get a return, and I venture to say, even in the face of three Hon'ble members of my own profession, that it is largely a matter of common sense that if a man has declined to give the Collector the materials upon which his income-tax ought to be assessed, it is absurd to allow him to appeal against the assessment which the Collector has been forced to make in the absence of those materials. My Hon'ble friend, Mr. Sarma, says, 'Oh! everything can be got over by a fine, let him pay ten rupees.' But take the case of a man whose income-tax ought to be assessed at a lakh of rupees. Is it any adequate compensation to the Government that they will get ten rupees as a fine, while the man may still appeal, having concealed everything by his failure to make the return which the law demands from him?

"There is one other argument which was addressed almost to me individually by my Hon'ble friend, Mr. Basu. He said surely one of the objects of the law is to make provisions which will be acceptable to the persons against whom they are to be enforced. Well I would ask my Hon'ble friend to consider whether any person who is assessed to income-tax against his will is likely to be satisfied with an assessment made by the Collector or maintained on appeal. I always think that these assessments to income-tax are a little like an umpire's decision at cricket, that a man is out 'leg before wicket'. There are very, very few people against whom the penalty is enforced who go away believing that they have been fairly treated."

The Hon'ble Sir WILLIAM MEYER:—"The case has been so fully dealt with by my Hon'ble friend and colleague, Mr. Lowndes, that I need say very little more.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Basu has appealed to the 'conscience or want of conscience' of the Finance Department. I say we have shown our ample possession of conscience, and have tried to give some part of it to dishonest tax-payers. We want to bring home to dishonest tax-payers the fact that, after all, honesty is the best policy.

"My Hon'ble friend the Pandit asked what is to be gained by this measure? I say, respect for the law is to be gained; greater honesty is to be gained.

"Finally, my Hon'ble friend, Mr. Basu, says that there is a two-fold penalty. A man may be fined magisterially under section 34 of the Act, and here we disqualify him on appeal. That is no new thing. There are constant restrictions on the free right of appeal; it is constantly qualified by time-limits and so forth; and one would think that this is a very reasonable restriction indeed. As for the two-fold penalty, let me take an instance. 'It frequently happens that men are disqualified from holding certain offences by reason of having been convicted of certain criminal offences. My Hon'ble friend would apparently say in such a case—' Poor fellow, he has already been in jail for (say) forgery, why should not he be a member of the Legislative Council, or whatever public body the law provides such disqualifications for?' I should not be moved by any such argument of double penalty in that case, and I am not going to be moved by it in this case. I cannot possibly accept the amendment."

The Hon'ble Pandit MADAN MOHAN MALAVIYA:—"On the Hon'ble Member rising to speak....."

His Excellency the PRESIDENT:—"The Hon'ble Member has already spoken."

The Hon'ble Pandit MADAN MOHAN MALAVIYA:—"Yes, My Lord, but I did not speak to the amendment."

His Excellency the PRESIDENT:—"I cannot accept that from the Hon'ble Member, because I was under the impression, until the last words of the Hon'ble Member's speech, that he was speaking to the amendment. I am afraid, therefore, that I cannot help him."

The Hon'ble Rao Bahadur B. N. SARMA:—"My submission was that if the Collector could not proceed without a return, he had the option of having a man fined Rs. 10 for every day's default, and that would be a very good inducement to any man to make his return. That would be a sufficient punishment and would secure the object. Again, if a man files a revision petition or an appeal petition he will have to submit a return, and the presumption of not having submitted the return and the accounts in proper time would be raised against him, and it would be for the Collector and the superior revenue authority to 'notice whether justice had been done in the first instance or not. My Lord, I do not think that in any event the exchequer is likely to suffer, it is likely to gain.

"Then, My Lord, I submit that anomaly and difficulty would arise. To take a case, an assessee appeals; the appeal petition is rejected; and the man is put before the Magistrate; I do not think any Magistrate could convict a man if he could show that he has sufficient cause. Supposing the Collector comes to the decision that he had no sufficient cause and the Magistrate comes to the decision that he had sufficient cause, there would be an awkward anomaly indeed. I do not know wether the revision petition would be heard then. Then the principal point is it is difficult in actual practice to distinguish between a case of negligence and one of wilful default. It is because it is so difficult and because you should not throw a person interested in securing revenue into the awkward position of having to decide such questions before entertaining an objection, that I say that this amendment should be accepted. These, My Lord, are my reasons for still pressing the amendment."

The amendment was put and lost.

The Hon'ble Sir WILLIAM MEYER:—"My Lord, I now move that the Bill, as amended by the Select Committee, be passed."

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE SUPER-TAX BILL.

The Hon'ble Sir WILLIAM MEYER:—"My Lord, I beg to present the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to impose a tax on income in addition to that imposed by the Indian Income-tax Act, 1886, and also to move Your Excellency to suspend the Rules of Business to admit of the Report of the Select Committee being taken into consideration."

His Excellency the PRESIDENT:—"I suspend the Rules of Business."

The Hon'ble Sir WILLIAM MEYER:—"My Lord, I explained the intention and scope of this Bill in my speech introducing the Financial Statement, and in the further speech introducing the Bill itself; and the extent to which the Bill has been amended in Select Committee is explained in the Committee's Report. I need only confine myself, therefore, to emphasising a few further points.

"In the first place, we are going on the principle of taxing in one year the profits made in the year previous. That is the principle already applied in respect of profits of companies and 'other sources' of income in the existing Act. It is in fact the only feasible method, since we tax the profits actually ascertained, whereas if we taxed current profits, we should be dealing with uncertainties. In so far as a man is taxed in a year in which he has not been doing so well on larger profits in the previous year, he will have the compensation that in the third year the poorer business of the second will relieve him of some taxation. We also have to take into account the fact that certain companies, firms and persons have made large profits in 1916-17 owing to the war, and that, as I indicated in paragraph 51 of my Budget speech, we propose to secure a portion of these excess profits to the State.

"It follows that section 33 of the Principal Act, which is quite inconsistent with this system, would be out of place in the present Bill, and is therefore not among the sections of that Act made applicable in the Bill. I may add, too, that it is out of place in the principal Act having regard to the method of assessment there adopted, and is marked for omission when we come to the general revision of that Act.

"As regards the argument that it is a hardship to tax profits of a past year that have already been allocated, I need only say that any new tax involves unexpected calls on peoples' incomes; and, in the present case, the tax can hardly have been altogether unexpected for there was certainly anticipation of either an increased income-tax, a super-tax, or an excess profits tax.

"As indicated in the Select Committee's Report, we fully debated the question as to taxing companies and firms in respect of undistributed profit. That is the British practice and primâ facie we should be quite justified in standing by it. But, as indicated in the Report, we have made an important concession with reference to the special circumstances of India at the present time, that is, besides exempting from the 'taxable' undistributed profits the Rs. 50,000 previously contemplated, i.e., the difference between total and taxable income, we make a further allowance not exceeding 10 per cent on the whole profits, i.e., the whole sum on which the ordinary income-tax is paid for amounts left undistributed in the business. Thus, if a company had made 40 lakhs and had distributed 32, leaving 8 allocated to reserve or otherwise applied to the purposes of the business, that 8 lakhs would be reduced by Rs. 50,000 plus 4 lakhs and the super-tax, so far as undistributed profits are concerned would be paid on Rs. 3½ lakhs only.

"As has been indicated in the Report, in making this concession, we have had regard to the special circumstances of Indian enterprise and industry, i.e., we wish to encourage the expansion of capital applied to industrial enterprises by allocation thereto of part of the profits already made. We have also taken into consideration the fact that the assessments this year will be made on profits of 1916-17, and that those profits have in many cases been obtained at the cost of special strain on plant and machinery, which would not be adequately covered by the general allowances made for depreciation. The 10 per cent concession is intended to cover this also, and I desire to emphasise the fact that it is a very special concession not covered by British practice, and that we reserve to ourselves liberty to re-consider it later on when things have become more normal, if circumstances seem then to point to the fact that the concession is needlessly large. Further, I should like to say that it must not be in any way understood that by giving a concession up to 10 per cent of total profits, the Government consider that that is the maximum amount which ought to be put into the expansion of the business. There may well be cases in which a company or firm would find it to its own ultimate interests to utilise more than this sum in business expansion, even at the cost of paying somewhat more in the way of super-tax.

"Another point which has been brought to my notice by my Hon'ble friend Mr. Bray, is this. In the case of companies and firms which make profits in India, but have also an English domicile, they are subject to the English income-tax and super-tax as well as to ordinary Indian income-tax. That raises what may be called the double-income-tax question, which the Home Government have already promised to consider, and which must indeed be considered in connection with post bellum measures calculated to draw the bonds of Empire closer. But, for the present, we must take things as we find them, and we cannot give up any portion of our ordinary income-tax.

"I may point out, too, that it is not exactly a question of full double-income-tax, seeing that for purposes of Home assessment income-tax paid in India is deducted from the assessable income in England.

"Well, now as to the application of this to the super-tax. We cannot take into account at present the operation of income-tax and super-tax in England, but the excess profits tax levied there as a temporary war measure is on a somewhat different footing, and we propose, as a measure of equity, to lay down that where evidence has been given that in respect of Indian transactions coming under this Bill, a specific sum has been paid to the British authorities in the way of excess profits tax, that amount shall be treated for Indian purposes as working-expenses, and shall not be taken into account in calculating the taxable income.

"Another point raised in Select Committee by my Hon'ble friends, Mr. Bray and Mr. Wordlow Milne, was the practical operation of section 21 of the principal Act, which is one of the sections to be made applicable in the present Bill. That section runs as follows:—

'Any person not resident in British India, whether a subject of His Majesty or not, being in receipt, through an agent, of any income chargeable under Part IV, shall be chargeable under that Part in the name of the agent in the like manner and to the like amount as he would be chargeable if he were resident in British India and in direct receipt of that income.'

"I was asked whether, if a company or firm remitted directly to a partner or shareholder resident out of India the amounts accruing to such partner or shareholder by reason of profits or dividends, that transaction would be treated as an agency transaction within the scope of section 21. My reply is that this would be a strained reading of section 21 as it stands. We should regard the transaction described as a direct remittance to the beneficiary, and the agency provisions would only come in where a third party was employed as an agent. We are prepared to make this point clear by executive instructions; our intention in connection with the present legislation being, as I stated at the last sitting, to disturb the existing law and practice as little as possible.

"As stated in the Select Committee's Report, we desire to treat Hindu joint families on the same footing as far as possible as firms.

"I need say nothing more at this stage, and would now move that the Report of the Select Committee be taken into consideration."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. RANGASWAMY AYYANGAR withdrew his amendment to clause 1 (3) which ran as follows:—

'That the words and shall cease to be valid after March 31st of the year following the close of the present war be added to clause 1 (3), after the words the first day of April 1917.'

The Hon'ble Rao Bahadur B. N. SARMA:—"My Lord, I beg to move that to sub-clause (3) of clause 1 the following be added:—

'and continue in force during the period of the war, and for six months thereafter.'

"I ask the Council by accepting this amendment to confine the operation of this Bill when it becomes law to the period of the war and for six months thereafter, or, in other words, that this Council and the Government should treat this as a special war measure. It is not the intention of anyone here; it is not my intention to embarrass the Government of India in the slightest degree, or to decline in any way to permit them to raise what money may be needed for the defence of the country or for the progress of the war which is in operation. I readily therefore consent to the Government raising, by means of this taxation, the sum that they hope to obtain in order that the war might be helped during the year. I only ask that the consideration of the large questions raised by this Bill may be deferred to a future date when everybody's mind would be free to consider dispassionately as to the best ways and means whereby money can be raised, and how much has to be raised. When I tried to raise, on the last occasion, the question as to whether it was competent to the Government to raise revenue in anticipation for unsanctioned expenditure, for a non-Government of India purpose, I was overruled and I bow to that ruling, and I cannot, and I will not, raise that question. But all that I ask the Council now to consider is, whether it would be right to legislate for so indefinite period when we have not at the present moment the actual sanction of Parliament and do not know anything with regard to the measures which it may be proposed to take with reference to India and the British Empire in general. It would be, if I may say so (and I may be pardoned for saying so, wrong and unwise to do it—it would be as suicidal as for a ward to tempt his guardian to cast aside the safeguards the guardian himself has proposed for the ward's protection, and to consider in a time of crisis as to what may be done in adjustment of the relation between the ward and the guardian for the guardian's benefit. I take it, My Lord, that the legislation since 1858 has been enacted on the footing that India is a dependant country, that the Government of India are only the mouthpiece of the Secretary of State, that the Secretary of State is responsible to the Cabinet and to Parliament, and that consequently in vital matters the Government of India has virtually no discretion to act independently. And acting on that footing neither the Government of India nor we can have any real voice in changing or directing policy. Further, the attitude of the Government shows clearly that we are but a deliberative assembly in substance, and all that we, on the non-official side, can do is but to advise the Sovereign as Your Excellency as his Vice-Regent sitting on the throne of the ancient Hindu and Muhammadan Kings. Now the question which under the circumstances I put to myself was, whether I would be acting honestly if I should not ask the Council to protect itself for some time until the end of the war with the safeguards which the Parliament has enacted for our benefit. I do not ask you on this amendment to judge as to whether at the present moment one hundred millions are necessary, or whether we shall have to find the interest on that amount or the sinking fund. We claim to be partners in the Empire; we shall have to bear the burdens, and we shall cheerfully do so when the time comes when we are treated on an equal footing. That day, we hope, will come sooner or later, and at the end of the war, we shall have to adjust our relations on that footing. But, meanwhile, let the relations continue as they have been; sections 20, 22 and 28 read together seem to my mind to show, and the ancient practice of this Council also seems to show, that we only budget for sanctioned expenditure for a purpose which is understood to be a Government of India purpose, and that the Secretary of State or the British Cabinet has no power to borrow from any one for any purpose whatever unconnected with the Government of India. I agree that we should provide funds for the current year without defeating the purpose which His Majesty's Government and the Indian Government have equally at heart, that of prosecuting the war to a successful conclusion. I take it that it is perfectly open to the Parliament to consider the representations of this Council and of the Government of India or His Majesty's Government, and arrive at a decision as to whether the revenues of the Government of India can be applied for the purpose of maintaining His Majesty's forces outside the Indian borders. I hitherto took it that that section was meant to mean borders within the sphere of influence of India. Charges in connection with Egypt, charges in connection with Persia, in connection with Burma, in connection with China ....."

His Excellency the PRESIDENT:—" Order, Order. I should like the Hon'ble Member to confine himself, as far as possible, to the amendment which he is moving and to the Bill. I do not wish to interrupt him, but I should like him to confine his remarks within a brief space to the wider aspects."

The Hon'ble Rao Bahadur B. N. SARMA:—" I say, therefore, that the practice has been that. We should not weaken in the slightest degree the hands of the Government in what they have done already in providing for the current year's expenditure, or embarrass them. At the same time, we should not weaken the people's representations if there should be any on a wider consideration of the proposals before the country. I submit it would be perfectly competent and wise on our part to raise as much money as we can, even by further taxation if need be, by a supplementary Bill later on, all the money that may be actually needed for the prosecution of the war. That is the reason why I ask the Council to confine the operation of this Bill to the period of the war and six months thereafter. I do not want it to be said that we, Indians, grudge showing to the best of our ability our active co-operation in the cause of the war, and therefore I should not like to jeopardise the chances of India for a fair hearing. But, at the same time, I do not want it to be said that we have not attempted to protect the interests of the people, because after all it will be said that this offer of the Government of India to His Majesty's Government is by an agent to the principal. I hope that, in future, the relations of the Government of India will be such as to practically represent us; that is what we have been praying for in Congress, and until that time arrives people would say that it is from one agent to another or by an agent to the principal. I should not like that to be said. No inconvenience would be felt at the moment if my position be conceded by the Council; the money can be raised by taxation, and it can be applied in any way the Government thinks fit. There is nothing in law to prevent Government from coming up for further funds, if necessary. I do not think, therefore, that we shall be jeopardising any interests if the Council accedes to my request that this question be further deferred, and that its operation be confined to six months after the war. I shall not go into the further question now, but shall deal with it later."

The Hon'ble Sir WILLIAM MEYER:—" My Lord, I cannot accept this amendment. I made it clear in my speech introducing the Financial Statement that we had undertaken abiding liabilities, and that we had to frame our taxation accordingly; that was one of the reasons I gave for rejecting a temporary Excess Profits tax and for falling back on Super-tax. Therefore, we desire this Bill when it becomes law, to be a permanent part of our Statute-book, permanent in this sense that it may come under revision when circumstances require it, but that it remains in force till it is definitely modified or repealed. I think the Hon'ble Member said that there would be no inconvenience in framing a Bill for a temporary period only and then coming up again. I say there is every inconvenience in doing that. You will unsettle people's minds, you will leave them to cherish illusory hopes of remissions of taxation. When you have got to impose taxation of this sort, it is much better to do it once and have done with it. As for the Hon'ble Member's legal qualms, I can leave it at this, that the Government of India Act is an Imperial Statute, that it is for the law officers of the Crown at Home to interpret it; and that if anything is required it will be done by Parliamentary Resolution, as was done in 1914 in respect of our then contribution to the war."

The amendment was put and lost.

The Hon'ble Mr. KAMINI KUMAR CHANDA:—" With regard to these amendments which stand against my name—

'1. That in clause 2 (1) (a) the letter and brackets '(f)' be inserted between the letters and brackets '(e)' and '(g).'

2. That in clause 2 (1), sub-heads (b) (c) and (d) and the proviso be omitted.'

I wish to say this: that I sent notice of them before I had received a copy of the Report of the Select Committee. After having read that Report and further considered the matter, I do not press these amendments. I ask for permission to withdraw them."

The two amendments were, by permission, withdrawn.

The Hon'ble RAI SITA NATH RAY Bahadur:—" My Lord, I also gave notice of a similar amendment, namely:—

'That in clause 2 (1), for sub-clauses (b), (c) and (d) and the proviso the following be substituted:—

(b) any income which a person enjoys as a member of a company or of a firm or of a Hindu undivided family when the company or the firm or the family is liable to the tax.'

and I honestly believe that the provisions of the Bill, as at present worded, will press very heavily on certain individuals. But, in view of the present emergency, it is not desirable that I should embarrass the Government by striking a discordant note. I, therefore beg to withdraw the amendment, and at the same time I desire to take this portion of his Budget. Such of them as are not affected by the higher rates may favour a policy of progression. Socialistic ideas may also favour what seems to be the mode of relieving the poorer classes from the oppression of excessive taxation. Some may also opine that this tax may affect only the commercial classes or the richer men, but it is to be noted that due regard should be shown to the equity and justice of others' interests. Now it may be a question of progressive super-tax, but to-morrow it will be a matter of graduated land tax. The richer classes have been already insulted as middlemen and things of that kind, out of apparent sympathy for the labourers, and now by the imposition of this graduated taxation, injury is also added.

"It may be argued that it is a question of 'least sacrifice' instead of 'equal sacrifice' Even as regards equality of sacrifice, one eminent Economist refutes the theory, and says that the rich man's system of life on its material side is differently constituted from the poor man and that any comparison of the kind is absurd. His standard of necessities are greater in geometrical proportion £10 of a labourer's income may mean the loss of a certain amount of alcoholic drink, the richer man by having to give up £10,000 may lose the chance of purchasing an estate, or may have to abandon some social scheme that he could otherwise have carried out. Apart from these, taxation should be in return for the peace and security one enjoys, and also proportionate to the political privileges of each section. Under our benign British rule no one enjoys better privileges than another. We see Western politicians and reformers condemning some of the Malabar laws which fix capital punishment for one class, and exempt another favoured class from that punishment for one and the same crime. Now, one cannot understand why they do not extend their imagination a little further and condemn this differential method of taxation. This certainly trifles with the assurance of equal privileges to every individual and is akin to the confiscations of the primitive days whenever one man was presumed to have fattened himself very much. Progressive taxation is already being realised in different ways, as by levy of customs duties on luxuries consumed by the rich, for example, on petrol, telegraphs, railways as well as duties on the transfer of property and commercial transactions. Further, as observed by a high authority 'besides the unproductiveness of the progressive taxes or incomes it is entirely arbitrary.'

"As has been pointed out in the Select Committee report I am afraid this principle of graduated taxation will also be a check on industrial enterprise It will cut at the root of saving and discourage it materially. One of the greatest drawbacks under which an Indian businessman has to work is the great, sometimes insuperable, difficulty of getting large capital, and to this is mainly due the absence of industries carried on on any large scale. While it should be the duty of Government to do all they could to increase the supply of available capital, we see them working on a principle which, however well it may sound in an academic discussion, is fraught with utmost mischief, when applied to a country like India which, so far as its industrial organisation is concerned, has hardly yet emerged out of its shell. England had this tax only as late as 1910. She embarked on her progressive career long, long ago We have to wait and see the recommendations of the Industrial Commission on this point. There is really not much of rejoicing over the preferential tariff imposed on cotton piece-goods, as many hold the opinion that this super-tax will partly neutralise those benefits.

"If it is held as account of emergent State necessities and on account of the proposal to contribute that breathless sum, as the 'Madras Times' says, of 15,000 lakhs to the mother country, these taxes have to be imposed; it is suggested, considering the extreme poverty of the land, that that gift should be reduced to a bearable sum. Though it may look graceless to stand in the way of this patriotic measure, yet the enervating thought of the economic position of our land and the check it would have on every progressive movement makes me bold to protest against this contribution . . . . . "

The Hon'ble Mr. M. B. DAMADHOY:—"My Lord, I rise to a point of order. The Hon'ble Member is not confining himself to the amendment before the Council."

His Excellency the PRESIDENT:—"Yes; I trust the Hon'ble Member will not dwell at too great length on that point, but will confine himself to his own amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. K. V. RANGASWAMI AYYANGAR:—"Even thus, our Finance Member will not be at his wit's end to devise some new ways of taxation which may be equitable and proportionate. I have to put in a word of caution against introducing all these socialistic principles in a conservative country like India, and the Government may have to reproach themselves for giving room for suspicion among the wealthy and influential classes that they are being accorded an unjust and prejudical treatment. With these remarks, I beg to move the amendment standing against my name. I think I am not aiming at too much."

The Hon'ble Sir WILLIAM MEYER:—"My Lord, I do not propose to detain the Council long The Hon'ble Member wants practically to confine our super-tax to one anna in the rupee. Well, as I told the Council when I introduced the Financial Statement, our estimates of yield are necessarily rather uncertain at present, but of course we have gone on the best material we had, and we thought of other things besides the existing scale I calculate, roughly speaking, that by making the taxation stop at one anna in the rupee, we should throw away at least a half of the revenue of £1½ million that we expect from this tax. Well, even with this revenue we only have a surplus of £130,000 at the end of the year. The money, that is, is fully allocated for the purposes explained in the Budget. Therefore, if this amendment were carried, it would mean that that money would have to be found in other ways. I explained in introducing the Financial Statement why we have drawn the extra revenue we required largely from super-tax because we think that the rich are the persons best able to bear taxation. The Hon'ble Member has made a very refreshing oration in these democratic days. He says, 'Pity the unfortunate rich, and for Heaven's sake, if you tax any one, tax the poor.' That is the gist of the Hon'ble Member's speech. Although as I say I welcome it as an original contribution to the debate, I cannot in the least sympathise with it, and so long as I am here as Finance Member—I think I may well say so long as Your Excellency is here as Viceroy—we are going on the principle of taxing the people who are best able to bear taxation. I cannot accept the amendment before the Council."

The amendment was put and lost.

The Hon'ble Mr. K. V. RANGASWAMI AYYANGAR :—"My Lord, I beg leave to withdraw the amendment standing in my name, namely, 'that the Schedule to the Bill be deleted.'"

The amendment was, by permission, withdrawn.

The Hon'ble RAI SITANATH RAY BAHADUR :—"My Lord, I beg leave to withdraw the amendment standing in my name, namely:—

That the following Schedule be substituted for the existing Schedule:—

In respect:—

(1) of the first fifty thousand rupees of taxable income—nine pies in the rupee;

(2) of the next fifty thousand rupees of taxable income—one anna in the rupee;

(3) of the next fifty thousand rupees of taxable income—one and one-fourth annas in the rupee;

(4) of the next fifty thousand rupees of taxable income—one and a half annas in the rupee;

(5) of all taxable income over two lakhs of rupees—one and three-fourth annas in the rupee'."

The amendment was, by permission, withdrawn.

The Hon'ble SIR WILLIAM MEYER :—"My Lord, I move that the Bill, as amended by the Select Committee, be passed."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned for lunch.

After lunch the Hon'ble the Vice-President took the chair.

THE FINANCIAL STATEMENT, 1917-18.

First Stage.

The Hon'ble SIR WILLIAM MEYER :—"Sir, I beg to open the first stage of the discussion on the Financial Statement for 1917-18.

RESOLUTION RE INDIA'S CONTRIBUTION TO THE WAR.

The Hon'ble Pandit MADAN MOHAN MALAVIYA to move the following Resolution :—

'This Council recommends to the Governor General in Council that, in modification of the arrangement announced by the Hon'ble the Finance Member in paragraph 49 of his speech introducing the Financial Statement, the Government of India do offer to His Majesty's Government the entire amount of the Indian War Loan and 5 millions a year for the period of the war out of the proceeds of the additional taxation imposed this year and last year.'

"SIR, in rising to move the resolution of which I have given notice, I desire at the outset to make it perfectly clear not only on my behalf, but also of a considerable body of my non-official colleagues, that we are ready to bear every sacrifice which we may, in reason, be called upon to make to help England to triumph in the mighty struggle in which she has been engaged in defence of the cause of liberty and righteousness, to the extent which our limited resources and a just appreciation of the circumstances of our people render practicable. It is with no small pride and satisfaction that we have recalled the help which this country has already rendered to England in the hour of her trial. They have been well recounted by the Hon'ble the Finance Member to whom India is deeply indebted for the sagacity and courage with which he, in the face of such unreasoning criticism, has safeguarded her honour and interest during the last three years. It should hardly be necessary for me to refer to them again. But men's memories are short, and there has been a persistent and regrettable attempt on the part of some people and papers, both here and in England, to belittle the support which India has rendered to the cause of the Empire and of the Allies in this unprecedented war. While we feel grateful that our trade and security have been materially assisted by the command of the seas established by His Majesty's Navy, it seems to be forgotten in some quarters that the timely help of the troops and officers, whom India had trained and maintained for years and at enormous expense, was of inestimable value in saving the cause of the Allies from irreparable injury in the early days of the war, and that but for that help the prestige of the Empire might have been in serious jeopardy in the East. Though the actual numbers have not been published, I believe I am not wrong in saying that, since the war began, India has placed over 250,000 trained soldiers at the service of His Majesty's Government. She has rendered invaluable aid by furnishing supplies of all sorts—foodstuffs, clothing, ordnance, equipment and munitions; by training and despatching horses; by lending to the admiralty a great part of her Royal Indian Marine fleet; and by fitting out transports. Apart from the large private subscriptions towards the several Relief and War funds. As the Hon'ble the Finance Member said in his statement the other day, our total out contribution towards the cost of the war in respect of the Expeditionary Forces is about £11½ million up to the end of the current year, and £4 million more will be added to it by the end of the next financial year. Besides this, owing to the war, our military expenditure has risen from £20½ million in 1914-15 to £25·4 million, and will amount to close on £26 million in 1917-18. We have also had to incur expenditure to the extent of £1,200,000 in Persia owing to the political situation set up there by the war. In addition to all this, we have since the beginning of the war put £46½ million into British war securities, of which, £35 million represents wholly new investment. When our unkindly critics seek to belittle our contributions to the war by comparing them with those of the self-governing Dominions, they seem to forget that unlike the Dominions, we have throughout our connection with the Empire borne our own share of the military burdens. All this has been done not only by maintaining a high level of taxation, but by raising it higher and higher. And is it too much to ask that those who desire that India should make a further direct contribution to the war, might, in fairness to her, say so without belittling what she has already done?

"Sir, we all know that the question of such direct contribution by means of a special war loan, had been pressed upon the Government of India during the last two years, and that last year they set their face resolutely against it. And if I may say so, they had the best of reasons for doing so.

"In my humble judgment the most substantial of those reasons have neither disappeared, nor have they lost their force. The only change that has taken place is that £11½ million of our debt has been paid. But the Secretary of State and the Government of India have now come to the conclusion that it is expedient to float such a loan. That decision must now be carried out. In view of the special circumstances of the case, I support the proposal that we should make a further direct contribution to the war. I am at one with the Government here. But, in the first place, I feel, Sir, that I am bound in duty to enter a respectful protest against the action of the Government in arriving at such a momentous decision without giving this Council an opportunity of expressing an opinion upon its proposal. The Government have in doing so relied upon two Resolutions passed by this Council. I submit that with those resolutions before them, the Government had no reason to apprehend that the Council would not deal fairly with a proposal to render further direct aid to England in the war. Under the constitution which governs us all legislation for additional taxation must be passed by this Council. And though the Council has not the right to vote on the Budget, we have the right to move Resolutions recommending changes in the Budget. I much regret to have to say it, but in taking upon themselves to commit the country, without consulting this Council, to the burden of £100 million, the Government of India have acted in a manner which is repugnant to the spirit, if not to the letter also, of the constitution.

"In the second place, Sir, it cannot be denied that the burden is a stupendous one. It will require special high taxation to the tune of £6 million a year to be maintained for the long period of over 40 years, to discharge it. Not to talk of the United Kingdom if we were half so rich and prosperous as the self-governing Dominions, we would have gladly undertaken such a burden. But unfortunately India is very poor. Her resources are limited. Her vital domestic needs are great and pressing. The vast mass of her population suffers from want of education. Her agriculture and industries badly need to be developed. Her extreme poverty, which is the normal condition of the vast majority of the people, and which keeps them on a low grade of vitality and thus exposes them to disease and suffering, requires to be ameliorated. For many years we have been pressing these problems of internal improvement on the Government of India, and urging them to frame large schemes, commensurate with the requirements of the situation, to carry out the necessary measures of improvement, and we have always been met by the reply that funds are not available for the purpose. We have also to remember, as the Hon'ble the Finance Member told us last year, that 'the termination of this war, when it comes, will leave us with heavy financial demands on us,' and 'that the experiences and lessons of the war must also add in some directions to our permanent military charges.' He was good enough also to remember that it was desirable that 'we should be in a position, when peace returns, or as soon after as may be, to provide further funds for such beneficent purposes as the improvement of education and sanitation.' But the proposals of the Budget leave us face to face with a situation in which for the life-time of a generation internal improvement of even the most necessary kind will be considerably hampered. In view of all these considerations—and I am speaking on this point entirely for myself—as I have indicated in my Resolution, in my humble opinion the measure of our further direct contribution to the war should have been limited to the proceeds of the Special War Loan which we are raising, and which we should all do our utmost to promote, and to the amount of six millions a year raised by the taxes imposed this year and last year, to be paid till the end of the war year. We should thus render the utmost help that we can to England by offering her as much cash as we can. But happily England does not stand in need of the support of our credit, and in my opinion the question as to how far India 'should also undertake the service of a portion of the existing war debt,' should have been left over for consideration at the end of the war in a clearer atmosphere when we should be able to take a better perspective of our fresh responsibilities of the future. But I recognize, Sir, that it is no use urging these considerations now. The Government of India and the Secretary of State have, as I have said before, come to the conclusion that in the larger interests of the Empire, with which her own political and economic future is so closely bound up, India should make 'an ultimate total special contribution of £100 million to the war,' and having given the matter my most earnest consideration and discussed it with several of my colleagues, I have come to the conclusion that we should loyally accept this decision for the present, treating it as a war measure and remembering that England is fighting for the triumph of the principles of righteousness, liberty and justice, upon which the future happiness of all nations will so largely depend.

"I have done, Sir. In conformity with that I have said, I do not press my Resolution."

The Hon'ble Sir WILLIAM MEYER:—"I think it would have been more graceful on the part of my friend the Pandit if, intending as he did to withdraw his Resolution, he had withdrawn it without a speech. The effect is that he makes certain statements, which I in no way accept, and then withdraws. He reminds me of the famous old cartoon in Punch representing Lord John Russell as a boy who wrote 'No Popery' on the wall and then ran away. As the Hon'ble Pandit, however, has withdrawn, I shall not go into the merits of the case, for I think his action shows that he is himself convinced that his Resolution would have received very little support in this Council if it had been pressed to a division."

The Resolution was, by permission, withdrawn.

The Hon'ble the VICE-PRESIDENT:—"The next Resolution on the agenda paper is the Hon'ble Mr. Sarma's, namely:—

'This Council recommends to the Governor-General in Council that the entire amount of the Indian War Loan and six millions a year for the period of the war out of the proceeds of the additional taxation imposed this year and last year be utilised, if sanctioned by Parliament, in helping the successful prosecution of the war.'

As it is practically in the same terms as the Resolution which the Hon'ble Pandit has withdrawn under rule 14, the question cannot be discussed again under rule 20. I will therefore call on the Hon'ble Mr. Chanda."

RESOLUTION RE GRANT FOR A MEDICAL SCHOOL IN SURMA VALLEY.

The Hon'ble Mr. KAMINI KUMAR CHANDA moved the following Resolution:—

'This Council recommends to the Governor-General in Council that the grant to the Assam Government be enhanced by Rs. 1,00,000 (one lakh only) under the head of Medical expenditure for the establishment of a Medical School in the Surma Valley.'

"Sir, the position in this matter is this. There is a keen desire for a medical school in the Surma Valley in Assam. The want is very keenly felt by the particular circumstances of the province. In the Surma Valley full one-half of the population of the old Province consists of Bengalis, and they have felt some difficulty in getting admittance in any existing medical institutions in Eastern Bengal or elsewhere. In Eastern Bengal, although they were Bengalis, they were told that they should go back to their own Province of Assam. In Assam, although they are in the Province of Assam they are not Assamese, and therefore there are difficulties which exist in regard to Assamese boys as to a medical school, so the position of the people of Surma Valley is very unfortunate. In fact, it is described by the proverb about the washerman's dog:—

'Ná ghar ká ná ghát ká.'

"This was brought to the notice of the Local Administration during the Budget debate of 1913 when the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, the Hon'ble Colonel Campbell, at once supported the proposal, and ultimately the matter came up to the Government of India on the recommendation of the Local Administration. But unfortunately shortly after the war broke out and the matter could not be proceeded with. There it remained for some time, but in the meantime the position has become more acute. Private medical institutions in Bengal, which admit a number of boys from Surma Valley, have now been penalised by recent legislation, and therefore there is no room for them. I thought I could ask the indulgence of the Hon'ble the Finance Minister and this Council to give a little money to start a school in Sylhet, the cost being thrown on the Provincial revenues. But unfortunately, Sir, last evening I received a telegram from the Assam Administration saying that they are not prepared to bear the cost of the recurring expenditure involved. In this view, I do not think I ought to take up the time of the Council by pressing this Resolution, and I ask permission to withdraw it."

The Resolution was, by permission, withdrawn.

The Council adjourned to Saturday the 10th of March at 11 A.M.

The Council met at the Council Chamber, Imperial Secretariat, Delhi, on Saturday, the 10th March 1917.

PRESENT:

The Hon'ble Mr. G. R. LOWNDES, Vice-President, presiding, and 52 Members of whom 46 were Additional Members.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

The Hon'ble MIR ASAD ALI KHAN Bahadur asked:—

1. "Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing for each province year by year from 1911 to 1916:—

(a) the names as well as the number of copies of newspapers, journals, magazines and other periodicals (if any), English and Vernacular subscribed for or subsidised by Government:

(b) the total amount of subsidy or subscription paid to such Indian and Anglo-Indian papers, respectively?"

The Hon'ble Sir REGINALD CRADDOCK replied:—

"The information asked for, so far as it is available to the Government of India, is embodied in the statement * which is laid upon the table."

The Hon'ble MIR ASAD ALI KHAN Bahadur asked:—

2. "(a) Has the attention of Government been drawn to a leading article in the 'Mussalman' (Calcutta) of the 29th December, 1916, regarding the dismissal of employees in the Drawing Department of the East Indian Railway at Dhanbad?

(b) Will Government be pleased to inquire into the matter and redress the grievances (if any) of such employees?"

The Hon'ble Sir GEORGE BARNES replied:—

"An extract from the 'Mussalman' (Calcutta) of the 29th December, 1916, which is the leading article referred to, has been obtained and the complete papers in the case furnished by the Agent of the East Indian Railway for the perusal of Government. From these it appears that a full inquiry was held into the case by the Government of Bihar and Orissa. The result of the inquiry was to show that the Muhammadan clerks were allowed to absent themselves from office up to 11 o'clock on the day of the festival to say their Id prayers, the concession having been granted on their application and after the Head Clerk (himself a Muhammadan) had been consulted by the Resident Engineer, and that there was nothing in the circumstances of the case to indicate that the Resident Engineer was actuated by any religious bias towards his Muhammadan staff. The three Mohammadan clerks seem to have deliberately misrepresented facts, and to have made an entirely false accusation against their superior officer. The Agent of the East Indian Railway, therefore, gave instructions that they should be dismissed for insubordination. In these circumstances, Government cannot admit that there is any grievance to be redressed."

The Hon'ble Sardar Bahadur SARDAR SUNDER SINGH MAJITHIA asked:—

3. "Has any of the Government of India scholarships tenable abroad been awarded to a Sikh? If the reply be in the negative, will the Government be pleased to consider the claims of the Sikh community to these scholarships?"

The Hon'ble Sir C. SANKARAN NAYAR replied —

"No Government of India scholarship has as yet been awarded to a Sikh.

"The Government of India are naturally anxious that all communities should benefit from their scholarships. They will consider, along with other nominations, any applications from Sikhs which may be recommended by Local Governments, but the present principle of awarding the scholarships to the best qualified and most suitable candidates must be maintained."

The Hon'ble Sardar Bahadur SARDAR SUNDER SINGH MAJITHIA asked:—

4. "With reference to the reply to a question put by the Hon'ble Mr. Shafi on the 21st February, 1917, that the percentage of recruits drawn from the Punjab since the war was 61 per cent of the total, will the Government be pleased to state the ratio of the percentage of the different communities, Hindus, Muhammadans and Sikhs that comprise this total?"

The Hon'ble Major-General BINGLEY replied:—

"The percentages by communities of the number of combatant recruits obtained from the Punjab are:—

Musalmans	48
Sikhs	30
Hindus	21
Others	1

The Hon'ble NAWAB SAIYID NAWAB ALI CHAUDHURY, Khan Bahadur asked:—

5. "Will the Government be pleased to state what Railway schemes for the Presidency of Bengal are under the consideration of the Government of India at present, and which of them have been given or are proposed to be given to private Companies for execution?"

The Hon'ble Sir ROBERT GILLAN replied:—

"A statement * furnishing the information asked for by the Hon'ble Member is placed on the table."

The Hon'ble Honorary Captain AJAB KHAN, Sardar Bahadur, asked:—

6. "Is it a fact that the funeral expenses of Indian soldiers who die in Regimental Hospitals or at Regimental Head-quarters are not defrayed by the State? If so will the Government be pleased to consider the matter?"

The Hon'ble Major-General BEADLEY replied:—

"Government do not defray the cost of the funerals of Indian soldiers who die in Regimental Hospitals in India, unless they die from the result of wounds or disease contracted on field service. The funeral expenses of men who die while on colonial service are borne by the State.

The Government of India are not prepared to express any opinion as to the merits of the Hon'ble Member's proposal, but the matter will be examined."

The Hon'ble Honorary Captain AJAB KHAN, Sardar Bahadur asked:—

7. "Is it a fact that the families of Indian soldiers who are on the authorized married establishment of their regiments and become non-effective through death or pension are not provided with a passage home by the State? If so, will the Government be pleased to remedy this?"

The Hon'ble Major-General BEADLEY replied:—

"A statement † showing the existing rules on the subject is laid on the table. Free passage to their homes is not at present authorised for families of Indian officers and soldiers who become non-effective while serving in India.

The point raised by the Hon'ble Member will, however, receive consideration."

The Hon'ble Mr. K. V. RANGASWAMI AIYANGAR asked:—

8. "(a) Has the attention of the Government of India been drawn to the reply of the Bombay Government to a question put at the meeting of the Bombay Legislative Council on the 4th December last regarding persons against whom orders are passed under the Defence of India Act, that 'in view of the desirability of speedy action in such cases it is not possible to ask for formal explanation before orders are passed'?

(b) Is it a fact that Mrs. Besant was given an opportunity for explanation before orders under the Defence of India Act were issued against her by the Bombay Government?

(c) If so, will the Government of India, having regard to the answers given by them to question No. 45 in this Council on the 27th September last, be pleased to suggest to the Bombay Government the desirability of affording Mrs. Besant a real opportunity for explanation by stating the facts, allegations and grounds on which that Government made the said orders, and of cancelling the said orders should they be no longer justified in the light of any explanation she might offer, or should the grounds on which they were originally based be found no longer to exist?"

The Hon'ble Sir REGINALD CRADDOCK replied:—

"(a) Yes.

"(b) Yes, so far as Government are aware.

"(c) The answer is in the negative and the Hon'ble Member is referred to the reply given to a similar question by the Hon'ble Mr. Chanda on the 1st March.

The attention of the Hon'ble Member is drawn to the fact that the replies in the Bombay and Imperial Legislative Councils to which he refers dealt with cases of so-called internments."

"Sir, in introducing the Budget heads which stand against my name, namely, Land Revenue, Provincial Rates, Forest, Agriculture, Scientific and Miscellaneous Departments, Famine Relief, Protective Works, Irrigation, Civil Works and Capital Outlay on Irrigation, I do not propose to amplify the remarks made already by the Hon'ble the Finance Member in regard to Land Revenue and Famine Relief saving that I have, I am afraid, some lengthy remarks to offer on the subject of preparation for future developments. I wish, however, to take this opportunity to thank my Hon'ble friend Sir William Meyer for the co-operation which he has always shown in forwarding the preparation of such schemes as I was able to justify on administrative grounds for the future development of Agriculture, Forests and so forth.

"First of all, however, I should like to mention that I have recently had the assistance of certain Additional Members of this Council in considering certain forest, revenue and agricultural matters, they having kindly consented to form a sort of conference whom I was able to consult on various points. We have already had one meeting, and I may say that I have had the greatest possible assistance from the suggestions which Hon'ble Members have made on that occasion. I only mention the matter here because I am afraid that, in regard to those Members who did attend that conference, some of the remarks which follow will be necessarily familiar.

"In regard, first of all to forests, although the war has curtailed our revenue somewhat, we have had welcome recoveries in certain provinces. For example, in Coorg, where an increase in the price of sandal wood has occurred, we have realised a considerable actual increase on the revenue of past years. Similarly, the development of the resin industry in the Punjab has given us a welcome addition to revenue in that province. On the other hand, in Burma, a fall in the value of teak has resulted in considerable loss. Meanwhile, however, we are pushing on as rapidly as possible the consideration of schemes for the ultimate development of forests.

"As an example I may mention that an extensive project is under consideration for the development of the north and middle Andamans departmentally, and present estimates show, I think conclusively, that as soon as we are able to start financing that scheme we shall enter upon a project which will be of large profit to the State. In Coorg, also, by the construction of two forest tramways, we hope scientifically to exploit the Coorg forests, and so add considerably to the resources of the Empire and the revenues of Government. The Government of India—I am speaking now with special reference to a question which my Hon'ble friend Mr. Wacha desired to put in this Council—are fully alive to the immense potentialities of the forest resources of this country; and I can assure him that under the able administration of Mr. Hart, the Inspector-General of Forests, the commercial side of forest administration will not be lost sight of.

"Last year I referred in this Council to the fact that we proposed to bring out from England a tanning expert to investigate the possibility of the development of new methods of tanning. Mr. Pilgrim has since arrived and has been at work in India for nine months now. At the present moment the tanning industry is of peculiar importance to India owing to military requirements, and the fact that we have got in India now—although owing to delay in the receipt of plant, etc., he has not been able to get fully to work—the fact that we have got a tanning expert in India is likely to prove of great value in the development of the leather industry, with special reference immediately to Army requirements.

"The utility and value of getting out and employing such specialists has been demonstrated by the results which have already been arrived at in connection with the bamboo pulp paper industry. We have had that subject examined carefully, and I think I may say that, but for the intervention of the war, we should already have had factories working or, at all events, approaching completion; and I think that we may confidently hope that, as soon as the war ceases, we shall be able to proceed immediately to the erection of the necessary plant for the production of bamboo paper pulp, with the result, I hope, of a great access of strength to the paper mill industry in this country.

"Last year I also referred to the urgent need for strengthening the establishment in all provinces, and I may mention to-day that the question of forming a special cadre of forest engineers—a project which, I think, will appeal specially to my Hon'ble friend Mr. Wacha—is now receiving attention and has been referred for the opinion of Local Governments. Hon'ble Members are, of course, aware that forest revenues have been provincialised and that, except in such areas as Coorg and the Andamans, the Government of India cannot take action without reference to Local Governments. The urgent necessity, however, of scientific exploitation of the forests, and the consequent need for entertaining qualified engineers for that purpose, have been fully recognised, and I feel that I can say with some confidence that Local Governments are likely to respond very readily to the suggestion which has been made to them to entertain the services of such officers.

"Both in agriculture and in forest administration, the value of science, as the true basis of industrial progress, is now fully recognised, I think, on all hands, although we sometimes meet with criticism questioning whether any practical results follow; but the work which is being done in the Forest Research Institute—an institute which, I hope, Hon'ble Members who are interested in the subject will make a pilgrimage to see—ought to be of the greatest possible value to the Government and the country.

"It must, however, be admitted, I am afraid, that Government have not always taken the public, or been successful in taking the public, whatever their intentions, fully into their confidence in regard to what is being done, whether in the Research Institute or in forest matters generally; and the Department, in order to remedy this state of affairs, are shortly bringing out a publication dealing with the work of the Forest Department in India on more or less popular lines which, I hope, will give very valuable information to those Hon'ble Members and the general public who are interested in the subject, and will, to a certain extent, perhaps, remedy the tendency of Government to hide its light under a bushel. I may mention—I shall come to that later on when I deal with agriculture—that in regard to agricultural publications too, we have perhaps failed to popularise and make generally known our work. But I should like to make one observation, and that is this, that Mr. MacKenna has recently, in reference to two publications to which I shall shortly refer, appealed directly to the editors or proprietors of various leading Indian journals to take note of our efforts to produce a more popular publication, and has asked for criticisms and suggestions and so forth. I regret to say that so far the press has been stonily silent and has given no response at all.

"Turning now to Agriculture, the first subject to which I propose to refer is agricultural education. This Council will remember that last year I explained that we had then recently had a conference on agricultural education in Pusa in February 1916, and I gave an outline of one or two of the more important resolutions which that conference had come to. Those resolutions were, as I then foreshadowed, referred to Local Governments for opinion, and we have since received their views, which are under consideration. Well, Sir, it seems to me that we have now reached a stage at which it is not only possible but necessary that the Government of India should formulate and promulgate their conclusions on this important subject; and I propose, in order to lead up to the possibility of such promulgation—and I have in this His Excellency's concurrence—to convene a conference on agricultural education to assemble in Simla some time during the ensuing summer, to be composed of expert agriculturists, expert educationists and some, I hope, Additional Members who are interested in the subject and whom I shall invite; and I hope that with their assistance the Government of India will be placed in a position in which they can formulate their conclusions in regard to a definite policy and inculcate them upon Local Governments. I wish to mention that, in arriving at this stage of our proposals, I have received the most valuable assistance from my Hon'ble friend Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya, to whose suggestions I am very greatly indebted for the scheme of consultation which I have outlined.

"Last year I referred to the meeting of the Board of Agriculture which had taken place shortly before the meeting of this Council. The Board, as this Council is aware, only meets biennially, and therefore there was no meeting of the Board this year. Such meetings are, however, of such value for scientific purposes that, on Mr. MacKenna's advice, I arranged this year to have sectional meetings of some of the scientists under the Agricultural Department, and there has recently been held, under Mr. MacKenna's presidency, a meeting of entomologists and mycologists, which Mr. MacKenna informs me has got through a very large amount of very useful work.

"From time to time, as I hinted just now, the press seems inclined to question whether practical agriculture gets the advantage from scientific research to which ordinarily it should be entitled. I think this criticism proceeds, partly at all events, from ignorance of what is being done; and, as I have already said, I do not reproach our critics on account of that ignorance, because I do not think we have always taken the steps necessary to enlighten them. But we have recently issued two publications, one the 'Agricultural Journal of India' which issues quarterly, and one the 'Report on the Progress of Agriculture in India.'

"Well, I hold those two publications in my hand, and I would suggest that those Hon'ble Members and the general public who may be interested in these subjects and wish to make enquiries and inform themselves regarding them and as to the scientific progress that has been made and so forth, should subscribe regularly to our Agricultural Journal. I am afraid I am a bad advertiser, but I appeal to Hon'ble Members not only to do this, but also, if they will, to send me any criticisms or suggestions they may have to make regarding the further improvement of these hand-books. They are profusely illustrated and quite neatly got up, and I hope Hon'ble Members will appreciate the change from the ordinary foolscap blue-book type of publication.

"With regard to the question whether any practical benefits have resulted from scientific investigations, I think I can give one or two practical and conclusive answers based on information which Hon'ble Members will get from Chapter III of 'Progress of Agriculture in India.' For example, Pusa wheat No. 12, as demonstrated by Mr. Howard, has resulted in an increased profit to cultivators of roughly speaking Rs. 12 an acre as compared with those cultivators who cultivate the ordinary desi wheat. Needless to say, this represents a very, very large excess of profit to cultivators of wheat. I should like to take this opportunity, in reference to Pusa wheat No. 12 and its spread, to thank those zamindars and landholders of the province of Oudh who have been foremost in helping the department to popularise this wheat and to spread its cultivation, and in particular my Hon'ble friend, Raja Sir Rampal Singh Bahadur, who has placed under the supervision of the Department about 50 acres to be used for a seed farm. I had the pleasure of visiting that seed farm a little while ago and also seeing, on my way through the Rai Bareilly district, the progress that has been made. The co-operation of the zamindars in Oudh in this matter and the public spirit displayed is deserving of the highest commendation, and I hope their example will be followed in other parts of India.

"In reference to a question which was asked in this Council which seemed to imply that we were wrong in sending home parcels of wheat for milling experiments in England, to which I replied by a reference to the answer given to a similar question in the United Provinces Council, I should like to explain that it is quite obvious that if we can secure that any wheat from India is graded and standardised and recognised in Europe as being of a particular quality, we shall by these means popularise the product and shall also eventually, and at no distant date, secure to the cultivator a very much more permanent as well as enhanced return. I should have hardly thought that that required demonstration, since it seems to me quite an obvious reply, and the small quantities which have been sent home, hardly diminish the rate of development of the sowing of this seed, at all events not comparably with the advantages which are inherent in standardising it at home. There is, however, another justification and another reason for sending these samples home, and that is this. This Council are aware probably that Indian produce in the past, seeds and so forth have had a very bad reputation owing to the practice which used to prevail almost universally of mixing a certain amount of dirt with the produce, so much so that eventually and for a large number of years, it was necessary in computing the value of Indian produce, to assume that it contained a certain percentage—averaging 2 per cent—of dirt. This, I hope, is a thing of the past, but I think the very existence of that practice within recent years is a sufficient justification, if further justification were needed, for taking steps to assure the English millers that what purports to be Pusa wheat No. 12 is really that, and not mixed with a certain amount of impurity.

"Similarly, in regard to cotton, scientific experiments, especially in the Central Provinces, have resulted in a great improvement in the development of short staple cotton, an improvement which is computed to have given the ryots a profit of approximately Rs. 15 an acre. This spread over the whole area means that the ryots in the Central Provinces are benefited to the extent of very many lakhs of rupees. Again, the Punjab, No 4-F. American cotton has been in the past year sold at a premium of Rs 2-8 to Rs 4 a maund, and is now making rapid strides in popularity The importance to the Empire of developing the out-turn of long staple cotton is such that the Government of India have determined, or of all events have proposed, and I hope it will result in determination, to convene next October a special committee to examine the subject of long staple cotton and to visit the chief cotton growing centres and ginning factories and so forth, and to report to the Government of India as to the best means of securing the extension of long staple cotton cultivation.

"This question of long staple cotton brings me to the question of marketing, which is a subject of great difficulty to which the agricultural departments have given a great deal of attention We of course desire that the cultivator should reap the full benefit of any improvements which we can devise for him in the matter of cultivation, but occasionally, and especially in regard to cotton, efforts are made by buyers to defeat our object in that regard. There is an instance that I may mention; last year at Lyallpur, a ring of buyers endeavoured to defeat our desire to secure adequate prices for American cotton, long staple, grown in the Punjab; and the Agricultural Department of the Punjab had to organise special auction sales, and succeeded, as I have just said, in securing that cultivators realised a premium of Rs. 2-8-0 to Rs. 4. This resulted mainly through the co operation of certain firms, such as Messrs. Tata & Co. That will illustrate the difficulties which we have to contend with in the matter of securing to the cultivator the advantage which is his due. I do not wish to claim these achievements in the matter of cotton and wheat as conclusive or final or as being so creditable as to disarm criticism. They really are much more the earnest of what we hope to do. The potentialities emphasise of course the need—and this is a very important point—for securing the services of the best possible men for the agricultural department, and this aspect of the case reacts upon the question of recruitment. This was one of the subjects which we discussed at the informal conference to which I have referred, and I think all Hon'ble Members came to the conclusion that the position was roughly, that, first of all, we must secure for the agricultural department in India the best possible and most devoted workers, irrespective of race, creed or anything else, but secondly, subject to that proviso which will exist until we have advanced somewhat further along the road of progress, we should make every effort to recruit and to find suitable Indians for those posts. This is a very important matter which will of course have to be taken into consideration at the conference which I propose to hold in Simla. But I think Hon'ble Members and the general public could very largely assist in this matter if they would only urge upon the people at large the desirability of some of the best brains of the country taking up such subjects as agriculture and forestry in which so much remains to be done to develop the potential prosperity of the country, and I hope Hon'ble Members will endeavour to make known this aspect of the case. We need the best brains we can get.

"My Hon'ble friend, Mr. Wacha, asked a question in this Council on the subject of agricultural engineering, and I was compelled to reply to him that I thought that the stage to which agriculture had advanced in India did not justify us in proposing to establish separate special agricultural engineering institutes at present.

"I hope my Hon'ble friend will agree with me in this conclusion, but I hope that this development will follow in due course as soon as we have organised ourselves to the stage when we can provide for specialisation of that kind. In the meantime we are sanctioning the strengthening of the staff at a considerable rate as the following will show. During the year we have sanctioned an Entomologist for the Punjab, a Soil Physicist for the Bombay Presidency, a special Deputy Director of Agriculture for cattle breeding and dairying in Madras, a fourth Deputy Director for cattle breeding in the United Provinces, a third Deputy Director of Agriculture for Bengal, and the continuance for a further period of five years of the appointment of Assistant Economic Botanist in the United Provinces. Most of these appointments of course have to remain vacant, not only because of the economies imposed by the war, but owing to the unfortunate fact that we cannot find recruits at the present time to fill the posts. As soon as the war is over, we hope that there will be plenty of recruits, and that we shall get the staff needed. Not only have we sanctioned these individual posts, but we have taken the initiative in another direction, that is, by suggesting to Local Governments the desirability of each province being self-contained in the matter of its Agricultural Department; in other words, that each province should be able on its own account and with its own staff to carry out all the experiments and processes that may be necessary for its own agriculture, whether it be agricultural education or experimentation or demonstration, and we have suggested a schedule minimum to Local Governments which, I feel fairly confident, will be responded to.

"I now turn to the Silk industry. I mentioned last year that we had obtained the services of Mr. Maxwell-Lefroy to investigate the silk industry of India. Mr. Maxwell-Lefroy has written what, I hope, will prove to be a monumental report on the silk industry. Unfortunately he was interrupted unfortunately that is, for the Agricultural Department, by a call made on him by the military authorities to proceed to Mesopotamia to endeavour to grapple with the plague of flies which prevailed there last year. Mr. Maxwell-Lefroy was absent for two months, and the result was that he was unable to proceed to Japan to complete the tour which he had projected in investigating the silk industry. He had rather hurriedly to compile his report, but I hope his labours, coupled with those of Mr. Ansorge, who co-operated with him on the commercial side, will prove of great value to the country. The only definite conclusion (I have not seen his report in its final form) which I know that Mr. Lefroy has come to is that the silk industry as such, cannot stand by itself probably, in any province, and must be regarded as a sort of by-product of the ordinary agricultural work of the cultivator. That is a proposition which does not affect the question of course or the desirability of resuscitating the industry, but it is a material fact as to the methods by which such resuscitation may best be effected.

"Last year I also mentioned that we proposed to secure the services of a special indigo chemist for the investigation of the indigo industry in regard to the methods of production of the natural indigo. Mr. Davis has been at work here for a year, and has already succeeded in producing a standardised paste of natural indigo, samples of which have been sent to England for test. The reports of the results of these experiments must be awaited; but his provisional results, coupled with other experiments which he has made in the matter of vatting in conjunction with the imperial bacteriologist, have raised in the minds of the Government of India the sincere hope that it may yet be possible to re-establish the natural indigo industry on a footing in which it will be able to compete on equal terms with synthetic. That being so it seems imperative that the work done by Mr. Davis should continue; he has really only begun the scientific side of it. It is proposed by the planters of Bihar, which is the original home of the indigo industry in India, it is proposed by them that he should be retained for a further period, and that he should be associated with a special indigo botanist, since the botanical side of the problem requires to be further investigated. For that purpose the Bihar planters have suggested, in order to finance this investigation, the imposition of a small export duty on raw indigo. The proposal has been referred to the Local Governments concerned, who with one exception (and I hope a temporary exception) have agreed in the desirability of doing this, and I need hardly impress upon this Council the importance, if possible, of retaining or recovering an industry of such value to India as the indigo industry.

"Another important matter under this head is the cultivation of quinine. Hon'ble Members are probably aware that quinine is produced by Government on two plantations, one in Bengal and one in Madras. The supply from these plantations is by no means adequate to India's ever-growing needs, and it is wholly inadequate for the needs of the Empire. It seems desirable that India at all events, if not the Empire, should be more or less independent of outside supplies in the matter of such an important drug; we are therefore deputing Major Gage to investigate certain tracts in Southern India, Burma and Assam which promise to be suitable for the cultivation of the cinchona plant with a view to seeing whether we cannot very considerably extend the cultivation.

"In reference to the Scientific and minor Departments which stand in my name, I should like to make a reference to some criticisms which have appeared in the journal 'Nature' in regard to the Board of Scientific Advice and its work. The line taken by the critic was that the Board of Scientific Advice, as constituted, had entirely failed to show any initiative in regard to scientific investigation. Well, to that I would reply that the Board of Scientific Advice was not constituted or devised for the purpose of showing initiative in the matter of scientific investigation, but only to co-ordinate the work of scientific research which is going on in various Departments and in various parts of India. In regard to this, we may, I think, claim that the Board of Scientific Advice has already achieved some measure of success. The war, however, has undoubtedly changed the outlook in regard to this, as in regard to so many other things, and we are now seeing whether we cannot reconstitute the Board in such a way as to make it more an initiating body as well as a co-ordinating body and in order to enable it to establish relations with the Advisory Council of the Privy Council Committee for the purpose of promoting Scientific and Industrial Research.

"Since my Hon'ble friend Sir William Meyer delivered his speech on the 1st of March, we have received the Secretary of State's sanction to our proposals for the distribution of the profits from the Wheat Scheme which, Hon'ble Members will remember, we undertook should be devoted for the benefit of Agriculture, more particularly in those provinces where wheat was grown. A sum of £158,000 (Rs 23,70,000) will be distributed in the following manner:—

	Rs.
Punjab will receive	10,70,000
United Provinces	7,75,000
Central Provinces	2,25,000
Bombay	1,50,000
North-West Frontier Province	50,000 and the Agricultural Adviser	1,00,000

This distribution has been effected after consultation with the Local Governments, and on a basis partly of the area under wheat in the different provinces and of the amount exported, as also of the existing agricultural needs, specially with reference to wheat, of the different provinces. We have reserved one lakh of rupees to the Agricultural Adviser as a reserve on which to draw in the event of any emergent matter appearing which conforms to the conditions on which we have decided to allot such grants.

"Turning now to the Public Works Department, our productive irrigation systems, after meeting all charges for maintenance and repairs as well as interest on capital, has returned a net profit of Rs. 299·10 lakhs during the past year exceeding the corresponding figure of the previous year by Rs. 23·36 lakhs. We estimate for 1917-18 a net profit of Rs. 325 odd lakhs. In my last year's speech, I mentioned that we hoped to secure an increase in consequence of the completion of the Punjab Triple canals project, and I am glad to be able to say that about half the increase that we anticipate is due to the completion of that project. The provision made for capital outlay for Major Irrigation Works during the ensuing year under Head 49, that is from funds not charged against revenue, is 90 lakhs, and for 'Protective Works,' the cost of which is met from the Famine Insurance grant, is Rs. 60 lakhs.

"In addition to the above grants, a small sum of Rs. 60,000 has been provided for works which no longer give an adequate return on capital outlay. The total of these allotments amounts to Rs 150·60 lakhs, or nearly five lakhs less than the current year's revised estimates. The decrease is partly due to the completion of the Triple Canal Project, and partly of course to the necessary curtailment of expenditure.

"The Hon'ble the Finance Member, in his speech introducing the Financial Statement, has alluded to the present phase of some of the larger Irrigation works. I only propose to deal with two or three of them. The project for the construction of a reservoir at Mulur on the Cauvery, which it has been found necessary to modify as a result of the terms of the award in the dispute between the Mysore Durbar and the Madras Government was first prepared in 1910, and a brief description of it is given in Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson's speech. The modified project is somewhat restricted in scope. Although the storage capacity of the reservoir is not altered, the area of annual irrigation is somewhat smaller,—it has been reduced from 473 thousand and odd to 371 and odd acres. This restriction is also reflected in the financial aspect of the project, because whereas the original project was expected to yield at full development a net revenue of Rs. 20·6 lakhs a year, the amended project will only bring in about 23·43 lakhs, which represents a return of 5·97 per cent.

"The project for embanking the left bank of the Irrawaddy river contemplates the construction of an embankment from Tulloknew to Yandoon, a distance of 102 miles, at a cost of about 62 lakhs of rupees only, and it is expected to yield a return of about 20 per cent.

"A preliminary consideration of the Sind-Sagar-Doab project has shown that an area of about 2 million acres is susceptible of irrigation in the rhal of which about a million and a half can annually be served at a cost of about 4 million sterling. I may mention that His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor has recently made a tour in that part of the province, and he writes to me in a private letter that he regards the scheme as a most promising one. The expenditure is expected to yield a good return. Both of these projects are still an embryonic stage.

"Finally, in my last year's speech, I referred to what is known as the Sarda river project and mentioned that we had submitted to the Secretary of State a scheme for utilising part of the available water of the Sarda river. The Secretary of State in reply, has asked what we propose to do in regard to the major alternative projects, one of which is to utilise the water of the Sarda river in Oudh and the south, and the other to replenish the waters of the Punjab in the west, and we have referred this matter to the Government of the United Provinces for report.

'As regards Civil Works, I have nothing to add to what is stated in the Financial Statement, except that we have kept the figures as low as possible consistently with efficiency.''

RESOLUTION RE REDUCTION OF GRANT OF RS. 40 LAKHS TO RS. 10 LAKHS ON NEW DELHI.

The Hon'ble Mr. BHUPENDRA NATH BASU to move the following Resolution:—

'This Council recommends to the Governor-General in Council that, in view of the exigencies of the war, the proposed expenditure of Rs 40 lakhs on New Delhi budgeted for the year 1917-18 be reduced to Rs 10 lakhs.'

In the absence of the Hon'ble Member the Resolution was not moved.

The Hon'ble Sir C SANKARAN NAIR introduced the following heads of the Financial Statement for 1917-18:—

Revenue	Expenditure
Sanitation.	Sanitation.
Education.	Education.

''Sir, I beg to introduce the Education and Sanitation heads of the Financial Statement.

''As regards Education, it will be seen from the figures already given that we are spending in the present year 12 lakhs more than in 1915-16, and that we contemplate a very considerable increase of expenditure on Education in the year 1917-18. This latter feature of the Budget is due to the circumstance that we have for the first time for two years been able to make an additional grant to Provincial Revenues on behalf of Education. The fact that at a time when every rupee is wanted to promote the war, we should have put aside no less a sum than 30 lakhs for educational purposes is a very striking testimony of the high regard in which the Government hold the cause of Education in this country. There are of course many branches of Education which are in need of funds, and I do not deny the claims of other branches on us, but we considered that in making this grant we should concentrate our attention on that part of our educational system which on the whole was most in need of help, and this in our opinion was undoubtedly the position of our teachers. We have for many years and from many quarters received complaints as to the inadequate extent of the training which they receive and as to the inadequate attractions of the profession. We felt that the key of the educational problem was the teacher, and that our first step was to give what help we could to make him efficient and contented. We wrote last year to Local Governments asking them to consider whether arrangements could be made to secure that all or the greater part of new teachers should be trained, and we laid down in our Resolution of 1913 a scheme which aimed at providing the trained teachers with a minimum pay of Rs. 12 in primary, and Rs. 40 in secondary, schools. The Local Governments and local bodies have done a great deal of recent years in both respects, but much still remains to be done. We have still 50 per cent of our teachers untrained, and there are areas where the standard of pay is still not sufficient to keep the younger teachers in the profession. There are no doubt difficulties connected with the application of the money which we are now providing, and these were discussed by me with the Directors of Public Instruction in January last. But we are in most cases giving the Provincial Governments every latitude in their disposal of the grant. The grant made to each province will be available at its discretion for training or for pay or both. It will be recurring. The grant can be utilized for primary or secondary education as desired, but we hope that a preponderant share will be given to primary teachers. It is intended primarily for male teachers as it will probably be best to deal with female education on a separate footing, but there will be nothing to prevent Local Governments from using such part of it as they wish for female teachers. The grant will be available for use during the current year, and we expect it, as far as possible, to be so used.

''The whole grant has been distributed with the exception of a reserve of 75,000 which we intend to utilize mainly in meeting the needs of the European community in the matter of training schools for teachers.

Madras gets	4,00,000
Bombay gets	2,50,000
Bengal gets	9,00,000
United Provinces gets	2,50,000
Punjab gets	1,75,000
Bihar and Orissa gets	3,25,000
Burma gets	3,00,000
Central Provinces gets	1,60,000
Assam gets	1,00,000
North-West Frontier Province gets	38,000
Coorg gets	60,000
Delhi gets	8,000
Baluchistan gets	6,000

and as I said already, for the Anglo-Indian training schools at Saidapet and Coimbatore, we propose to give 15,000

"In the matter of Sanitation, it will be observed that this is for the first time shown as a separate head in our returns, apart from the medical expenditure. This not only makes for convenience, but is gratifying as showing the increasing importance attached to this branch of expenditure. The war has of course had a serious effect on some important classes of sanitary schemes, but we have estimated for next year a total expenditure slightly exceeding that which was budgetted for in respect of the current year.

"Our Imperial expenditure is represented mainly by two items known as the Sanitation reserve and the grant to the Indian Research Fund Association. The former which normally amounts to 7·70 lakhs was reduced to 5·70 during the current year by the temporary surrender of 2 lakhs owing to the financial position, and this sum of 5,70,000 has been allotted for various objects including a drainage and water-works scheme at Peshawar (2 lakhs), the improvement of the Badrinath-Kedarnath pilgrim route (1 lakh) and the Dhar housing scheme at Simla (1·61 lakhs). For the year 1917-18, we have similarly surrendered 1½ lakhs which like the 2 lakhs surrendered last year will be made available for allotment later on when financial conditions improve.

"The Indian Research Fund Association normally receives a grant of five lakhs per annum, but in 1916-17, a sum of two lakhs was temporarily surrendered and a similar amount will be again surrendered in 1917-18. The expenditure of the Association during 1916-17 included the cost of various inquiries into diseases, including Tuberculosis, Ankylostomiasis and Diabetes and other objects connected with medical research. A sum of Rs. 50,000 was granted by the Association to the Bengal Government for anti-malarial measures, and one of Rs. 30,000 to the same Government for a scheme for the collection of accurate vital statistics in certain areas. The Association has also sanctioned a considerable contribution to the Central Research Institute at Kasauli and Sir Pardey Lukis will inform the Council of the excellent work which has been carried out during the war by that Institute."

The Hon'ble Mr. SHARP:—"Sir, I lay on the table the annual narrative called 'Indian Education in 1915-16.' The tables at the end of this volume are for all India. But figures for the separate Provinces are to be found in another publication commonly known as 'Salient Features,' of which I shall be glad to supply a copy to any Hon'ble Member who desires to have one."

The Hon'ble Surgeon-General Sir PARDEY LUKIS:—"Sir, the time has not yet arrived when we can estimate with any degree of accuracy the amount of the debt that this country owes to medical research, but people are already beginning to realize the importance of the role played by the laboratory worker. Never again can scientific investigation and preventive medicine be relegated to the back-ground, and it is admitted on all hands that money spent on carefully considered research schemes is a profitable investment.

"Here in India we have reason to be proud of the progress made during the last six years and, on this the last occasion I am likely to have the honour of addressing this Council, I trust I may be excused for saying that there is not a single feature of my administrative career that I shall look back upon with more gratification than upon the progress that has been effected, during my term of office as Director-General, in the organization of medical research in India and the development of the Indian Research Fund Association.

"Owing to the reversion to military duty of the majority of the members of the Bacteriological Department the activities of this Association have been necessarily somewhat curtailed by the war, but our research workers have furnished a band of expert advisers whose assistance, both in the laboratory and in the field, has been of great value to the military authorities. We have also despatched to Mesopotamia from our Central Research Institute at Kasauli, several fully equipped field laboratories.

"But perhaps the most valuable assistance we have been able to render to His Majesty's Forces overseas has been the conversion of the Central Research Institute, Kasauli, into a huge manufacturing depot for the preparation of vaccines, intended to protect the troops from the ravages of typhoid and para-typhoid fevers, as well as from those of cholera. The preparation and despatch of these vaccines in the large quantities required, have involved an enormous amount of work. The Institute, in response to Military demands, has already issued half a million c. c. of typhoid and para-typhoid vaccines and three-fourths of a million c. c. of cholera vaccine, and arrangements are now in progress to increase largely the output in the immediate future. In connection with the supply of vaccines from Kasauli, I should like to mention that, at the end of last month, the Central Research Institute was visited by two members of the Medical Advisory Committee, sent out to Mesopotamia by the War Office, and that they have reported as follows:—

'We were shown the various steps in the preparation of these prophylactic vaccines from the start to the finished product, and we were greatly impressed by the care taken to ensure the purity of the various constituents of the vaccines at every step in the process, their accurate standardization and their final incorporation as a carefully tested sterile product in sealed glass vials. The general arrangement of the laboratories and equipment left nothing to be desired.'

"This, I think, reflects great credit upon Majors Brown and Cunningham of the Bacteriological Department to whom were entrusted these difficult and delicate duties

"I may mention moreover that, in addition to the supplies from Kasauli, large quantities of vaccines for the inoculation of troops against plague, dysentery and various septic infections have been despatched to Mesopotamia from the Bombay Bacteriological Laboratory at Parel.

"I have already stated that, as a result of the war, the normal activities of the Indian Research Fund Association have been curtailed. They have not, however, by any means ceased, and many problems of extreme importance are now under investigation.

"As regards plague, we are financing an inquiry at Poona on the subject of plague-prevention. This inquiry was commenced by Major Kunhardt, but on his departure for Mesopotamia, it was taken over by Dr. Chitre, who is now engaged in studying the various methods of rat destruction. His reports show that in Barium Carbonate, we possess a rat-poison safer to handle and more efficacious than any substance hitherto used for the purpose. This salt has also the advantage of being very cheap, and it exists naturally in the form of 'Witherite.'

"The importance of grain markets and grain godowns and of the movement of grain as factors in the dissemination of plague is generally admitted. It follows from this that the construction of well designed rat-proof markets and the keeping of them free from rats are anti-plague measures of real utility. The Indian Research Fund Association, therefore, have financed the construction of such a model grain market at Dalliganj, the most important grain centre in Lucknow, from which have originated most of the severe plague epidemics in that city.

"We are also financing the investigation which is being carried out in Calcutta by Major McCay into the causes underlying the extreme prevalence of diabetes in Bengal, and we have given a grant to Dr. Sudhamoy Ghose who, under the supervision of Sir Leonard Rogers, is engaged on an inquiry into the chemical composition of Chaulmoogra oil, the derivatives of which are yielding most encouraging results in the treatment of leprosy.

"Then, again, we have given grants to the two newly opened Pasteur Institutes at Rangoon and Shillong respectively, to enable them to develop the research side of their work, and we are assisting the schools of Tropical Medicine now under construction in Calcutta and Bombay. It is hoped that these two schools will be ready to commence work as soon as the war is over. They will afford unrivalled opportunities for post-graduate work and medical research.

"Tuberculosis, the undoubted spread of which is causing serious anxiety, is engaging our careful attention. During the past two years Dr. Arthur Lankester, at the expense of the Indian Research Fund Association, has been occupied in making a comprehensive inquiry into the prevalence of tuberculosis in all the provinces of India and of Burma, and into the factors concerned in its spread. On the receipt of his final report, upon which he is now engaged, consideration will be devoted to the possibilities of framing measures, designed to cope with the spread of this dire disease. Meanwhile, Dr. Soparkar, working under Major Glen Liston at Parel, is engaged on certain very promising pathological investigations with reference to the tubercle bacillus. Another inquiry upon which Liston and Soparkar are engaged is in connection with 'Bilharziasis,' with which disease many soldiers returning from Africa and Egypt are found to be infected. Hitherto this disease has not prevailed in India, but in the altered circumstances of the present day, it is essential to inquire into the possibilities of its gaining a foothold in this country. The disease is due to a small parasitic worm and the recent researches of Leiper in Egypt have shown that certain varieties of water-snail act as intermediate hosts and are essential to the continued existence of the worm to which they stand in much the same relation as that of the mosquito to the malarial parasite. Endeavours are now being made to ascertain whether any of our Indian species of fresh water snails are capable of harbouring this worm. So far I am glad to say none have been discovered.

"Whilst on the subject of the work at Parel, I may inform the Council that Dr. Mackenzie Wallis, a well known Chemical Pathologist who has come out to India as a temporary Lieutenant in the R. A. M. C., is now working with Major Glen Liston. He is engaged on most important investigations connected with the chemical sterilization of water and in the preparation at a cheap rate, of certain media for bacteriological work which, prior to the war, could only be obtained at very high prices from Germany. The Indian Research Fund Association have given Dr. Wallis a grant in aid of his investigations.

"The last subject which I shall mention is that of hook-worm disease, or 'Ankylostomiasis.' As most Hon'ble Members are aware, for several years the International Health Commission of the Rockefeller Institute of the United States, have devoted much time, attention and money to investigations into the prevalence of, and possibilities of eradicating, hook-worm disease both in America and in many tropical and sub-tropical countries, including several British colonies. Some two years ago, largely in response to the representations of this Commission, we commenced a systematic inquiry into the prevalence of hook-worm in India. These hook-worms are intestinal parasites, frequently existing in enormous numbers, which attach themselves to the lining membrane of the bowel and cause considerable loss of blood, followed by anæmia and general debility. As the result of investigations carried out in Darjeeling by Lieutenant-Colonel Clayton Lane and in the Madras Presidency by Dr. Bhaskar, we find that from 70 to 95 per cent of the coolie class are infested by these parasites. Now, although it is true that a certain degree of hook worm infestation is not incompatible with apparent good health, it does not follow that such unpleasant guests are harmless. Indeed, we have reasons for believing that their presence predisposes to infection by other diseases, and it has been demonstrated in Ceylon that, if Indian coolies, working in the gardens, be freed from hook-worms—and this is an easy procedure—not only is their general health improved, but their output of work is increased, sometimes as much as 25 per cent.

"The Indian Research Fund Association, fully realising the importance of the matter, recently deputed Major Norman White to Negapatam and Ceylon to confer with Dr. Perrin Norris of the International Health Commission, and, as the outcome of this Conference, it is intended shortly to enlarge the scope of our inquiry in the immediate future, when it is hoped that all Local Governments will co-operate in assisting in the framing of rules towards the ultimate eradication of the hook-worm from India. The young parasites live in polluted soil. The obvious preventive measure, therefore, is to minimise this pollution by the provision of suitable latrines and by rendering their use obligatory. An excellent pattern of latrine has now been devised, and it is in use in the Darjeeling Tea Gardens. The destruction of the adult parasites in the human body can be easily effected by the use of Chenopodium oil, one dose of which, as a rule, suffices. This oil is a far more satisfactory vermifuge than thymol, the drug chiefly in use in India, and it has the advantage of being non-poisonous. Chenopodium is not indigenous to India, but Dr. Perrin Norris has promised to send us a supply of seed from America and I am quite convinced that we shall have no difficulty in acclimatising the plant, for which purpose I propose to invoke the assistance of the Revenue and Agriculture Department.

"I should have liked to allude to several other lines of investigation, such as Carnwall's work on Kala Azar at Coonoor; that of Knowles at Parel on Amœbic dysentery, and Mr. Awati's interesting and important researches at Kasauli into the morphology and habits of the various species of house-fly. But time will not permit: I think, however, I have said enough to convince the Council that money spent on medical research and preventive medicine is money well spent."

RESOLUTION RE ADDITION OF RS. 30 LAKHS FOR THE EXTENSION OF ELEMENTARY EDUCATION.

The Hon'ble Mr. SRINIVASA SASTRI:—"Sir, I move the following Resolution:—

'This Council recommends to the Governor-General in Council that a sum of Rs. 30 lakhs be added to the provision made under the head 22—Education in the Budget for 1917-18 for the extension of elementary education.'

The Council will remember that not many days ago a similar question on the subject of elementary education was brought forward but negatived. Thrust out at the door on that day, I venture to come in again at the window this morning, but I have a reason. For some years, Sir, there has been a standing dispute between the Government and the non-official public as to which is the most efficacious means of making elementary education universal in the land. We have had it put forward on our side that compulsion is the only means to achieve that object. When last it was brought forward in this Council, Government countered the proposition by claiming for voluntaryism equal possibilities. I contend, Sir, that by doing so Government pledged themselves practically to carry forward the work of extending elementary education through good seasons and through bad. At that time it was believed that, although the main purpose of Mr. Gokhale's Bill was defeated, he had elicited from Government promises of financial support for liberal schemes for extending elementary education. These promises were really fulfilled. The appointment of the Minister of Education was followed by what I may call a triennium of hope and advance along all lines in the field of education. Sir Harcourt Butler took charge of the Department, and although he is not here, I think he will be glad to learn that the non-official public welcomed the way in which lakhs and tens of lakhs rained on his auspicious head, while his successor unfortunately has not even a drizzle of poor thousands. In this triennium, I believe the story is not altogether apocryphal that Sir Harcourt Butler ventured to envisage a scheme of educational expenditure which at its culmination would have gone up to ten crores a year. Well, we were soon to welcome a promise made, both in Parliament and in India by the Government, that 92,000 schools would be added to the system of elementary education, and that the school-going population actually in attendance would be doubled in no long time. Apparently to fulfil this programme the Government of India called last year for schemes from all the Local Governments which were summarised in a statement placed on the table of this Council at the end of last year. Nothing has come, however, out of all these schemes, and speaking in this Council on the last occasion the Hon'ble Mr. Sharp nearly admitted that the Department had been occupied in making plans and shelving them. What happened in India may practically be guessed from what happened in the province of Madras, which I take because it is the most favourable from the Government point of view. In Madras, Sir, I am happy to tell the Council that the policy adopted by the Government in the matter of education has been very liberal and progressive. Encouraged by the example of the Government of India, who granted for three years in succession recurring sums of money amounting now, I think, to all to 125 lakhs, the Government of Madras themselves out of their own provincial revenues, promised to the education budget of that province a recurring grant of 2 lakhs which was to be progressive every year, namely, 2 lakhs one year, that 3 lakhs and another 2 lakhs next year, and so on. During the three years that the Imperial Government made an advance of a recurring character, the Government of Madras spent a great part of those sums in opening new schools—in other words, in extending elementary education to areas which had not come under the beneficial effects of education. These schools cost nearly Rs. 300 each, so that a lakh went to the creation of more or less 300 such schools. We were looking forward, Sir, to a scheme which would be worked right through on this scale. But unfortunately the war came, the Imperial Government changed their plans, and during some time past there have been no recurring grants for education, with the unfortunate result that even the Government of Madras refused practically to spend any part of the sums at their disposal for opening new schools. It was my misfortune to contend against this state of things for three years in succession in the local Council. Time after time we asked that, out of their own progressive 2 lakhs a year, the Government might, while they kept a lakh for the improvement of existing schools, devote the remaining lakh at least to the creation of new schools. We had no idea why our proposition on this subject was defeated time after time, but I gathered afterwards, without being expressly told, that apparently Local Governments have got the impression that their revenues are only pledged to the improvement of education, while for any large schemes for the opening of new schools, they should look to the Government of India. Now, what has happened in my province I have no doubt has happened in other provinces and probably on a larger scale. This then is the state of things. The Local Governments are prepared, when they have money of their own, to spend it on improving existing education; but to make elementary education spread through the land by creating new schools and affording additional facilities for people to come under its influence, for that object they depend exclusively on recurring sums which the Imperial Government may be willing to place at their disposal. Now, that is the object with which I have given notice of this Resolution. Psychologists say that the strength of a belief is to be tested by the action in which it leads. If Government believe that on the voluntary system in vogue at present (we do not believe in it), if Government believe that on the present system they can extend elementary education, it is their duty continually to place recurring sums every year at the disposal of Provincial Governments. I am not losing sight of the fact that in the Budget before us a sum of £200,000 has been placed on the estimates. It is really a gratifying feature. The sums appearing in the education budgets of the two years past were almost nothing. I am very happy to congratulate the Education Minister on his being able, however slightly, to advance schemes of improvement which have been awaiting his disposal. Anything that helps to make the lot of the teacher better, to give him better pay and to give him better hopes to continue in his work should be welcome. Far be it from me to say a word against this disposition of the money. But I contend that pari passu with it, the Government of India ought to place sums at the disposal of Local Governments for the extension of elementary education. A battle royal, Sir, has been waging all over India during some years as to which is to be the first object, extension of elementary education or greater efficiency. I am one of those who refuse to join in this battle; both are good, because I contend, and have always contended, that Government must put their best foot forward in the one direction as well as in the other. It is a mischievous idea altogether that when the claims for improvement have been met sufficiently it would be time to look to the needs of extension. Improvement is a thing which has no end. Educational standards are rising, new ideas are creeping into the field of education and revolutionising our methods. If we were to wait until we made all the schools we have model schools before we opened new schools, there is really no hope whatever of anything being done under the voluntary plan. We are, Sir, like a colony of human beings who are obliged to take up their residence in a rank primeval forest. We have small patches of cultivation here and there, but the reclaiming forces of man have to contend against a formidable and sleepless foe, the encroachments made by the luxuriant forest growth. To give rest to the spade, to make the fire cease to burn, to let the axe lie at home, is to invite the forest into your homes and seek destruction. We, Sir, I think, are in a somewhat similar predicament. We cannot afford to let this work of extension drop for even a year. Do not weary of well doing. I ask that recurring grants should again as before be placed at the disposal of Local Governments, and I claim that next only to the war, education expenditure is that which must find acceptance by the Government. I have had a suspicion for some time that while perhaps Government agrees with us that the extension of education is also a laudable object, they do not assign to it the same place that we do. It has dawned, I grant, upon their consciousness, but it is still in the outer fringe, in the very circumference of their vision. I ask that it should be brought to the centre, so that side by side with schemes for improvement there should also be schemes for extension of education. In these days when provincial autonomy is so much talked of, a word of explanation is necessary as to why in my Resolution I invite the Imperial Government almost to earmark the sum, if it should be granted, to extension. I have for some time felt, Sir, that under the present dispositions of power between the Supreme and Provincial Governments, it would be necessary in certain cases for the Imperial Government when making grants to say also on what objects they desire those grants to be expended. I know by actual experience that in the provinces there is a great demand on the Director of Public Instruction for various items of improvement in existing schools. He has them piled before him; in despair for money he is on the look-out for some wind-fall, and when it comes his way he only thinks of putting it to the best use that he has marked out before him. It is, therefore, necessary that we should prevent Local Governments from falling into this temptation of putting all their moneys into improvement of existing schools only. It is, therefore, necessary that the Imperial Government, if they should make the grant that I plead for, should at the same time remark it for the special object of extending elementary education.

"There is one thing only, Sir, that I will mention before I sit down. You have got in hell clearly what destiny you are preparing us for. You are our jailors. What is the destiny that you intend for the people of this country? Are they always to be in a low state of virility, without even the rudiments of education, or are they to be worked up to a state of national efficiency such as we find in the continent of Europe among all the nations there? England, Sir, lest she be outstripped in the race for national equipment, has recently been starting anxious schemes with the object of securing to every person born within her shores the best education for which he may be fitted. Quite recently, I read with great interest a ringing statement made by a reverend prelate of the House of Lords that if he had the time and energy he would go out stumping the country for starting what he designated a 'thirteen to eighteen Association', meaning thereby that it was necessary in England to prevent from running to waste the possible talents of youths between the ages of thirteen and eighteen. The compulsory age for elementary education stops at thirteen. Then a large number of boys get into what are known as blind-alley occupations. About their eighteenth year they are thrown out, for the employers would no longer employ them as juvenile wages are inappropriate after the age of 18, and then you get the streets crowded, it would appear, by a number of people who cannot get sufficient wages, and who do not know what to do with themselves. That is the problem for which that prelate pleaded for the starting of a 'thirteen to eighteen Association'. In India, Sir, it is not a thirteen to eighteen Association we want. It is an Association that will look after people almost from the cradle to youth. We want plenty of associations for securing to people the rudiments of education from the school-going age, say six right away to eighteen or twenty, until university education begins.

"Now, Sir, the worker amongst the people in India has one universal experience. He comes up against illiteracy at every turn and in a very short time. You go to the agriculturist, to the man who wants improved methods of agriculture adopted by the people, he tells you you must have universal education; you go to the sanitarian, the man who wants to teach the people to live better and take better care of their bodies, he tells you that you must have universal education: you go to the social and religious reformer, the Hegistrar of Co-operative Societies, to the man who is interested in the development of industry, you read the evidence that has been placed before the Industrial Commission, everywhere you get nothing but the one cry 'educate the people, educate the people.' You cannot afford to let this good work lie over for good seasons, whether there is abundance or want, whether there is war or peace, this is work that the Government of India should not let rest for a single year. It is because I strongly entertain this belief that I have ventured to ask you to make this grant of 50 lakhs for the extension of primary education.

"Sir, I beg to move the Resolution that stands in my name.

The Hon'ble Sir William Meyer:—"Sir, my Hon'ble friend began his speech with the admission that this subject has really been discussed before. He said that he had been cast out of the door and was now going to make a sly ingress by the window. Well, I am afraid I must bar the window against him too.

"This Resolution asks us to add to our estimates for 1917-18 the sum of £500,000 for expenditure on primary education, and asks that this sum should be a recurring grant. It is impossible for the Government of India to accept such a mandate, and it will not require long to show why. I have already explained in introducing the Financial Statement that we have undertaken heavy demands in connection with the war, and that, even with the additional taxation necessary to meet those, we are only likely to have a surplus of £1,30,000, which is very small indeed having regard to the circumstances of the time and the unforeseen calls that may come upon us. The Hon'ble Member spoke about putting education next to war expenditure. Well, although we were in the strain and stress of war, we included in our Budget a special recurring grant of £,00,000 for increasing the training and pay of teachers in primary and secondary schools, and as for colleges the Education Member said just now it is likely that most of this money will go to teachers in primary schools. Also as I said in my speech on the Financial Statement we hold that such an improvement in respect of teachers is an essential preliminary to further educational reform and, although present circumstances prevent our doing much in this direction, we desire by this grant to give an earnest of our intention to make more liberal provision for education when peace and prosperity return. We cannot do more than this at present, as the Hon'ble Mover would have us, and convert our small surplus into a deficit, for that is what the effect of the Resolution would be. I am not prepared to budget for a deficit in present circumstances. My Hon'ble friend must be content with the earnest we have given that we shall spend money more freely for educational purposes when the times permit.

"He has spoken frequently of the necessity of having fresh schools. I agree with him as to the desirability of these, but what is the use of fresh schools without efficient teachers? You might as well try to educate a boy without having a good supply of officers. If the thing is to be real, to be effective education and not eye-wash, what is of most importance is the teacher and the capacity of the teacher.

"Another proof of our earnestness in this respect is afforded by the fact that, in spite of the war economies which have been forced on us in other directions, we have not cut down expenditure on education. I gave some figures in this connection in paragraph 30 of my last year's financial Statement speech as regards provincial outlay, and nearly all our expenditure on education is debited to the provincial head. I will read out the figures as brought up to date for 1915-16 and the current year.

"In 1911-12, provincial expenditure on education was £1·963 million, in 1912-13, £2·098 million, in 1913-14, £2·196 million, in 1914-15, £3·132 million. In 1915-16 it was £3·201 million, while in the Revised Estimate for the current year it is £3·073 million, that is a little above the outlay of the last pre-war year.

"I have already pointed out that in 1917-18 we are making a special extra grant of £200,000, but even without that the figures would be materially in excess of what is provided in the current year's Revised Estimate. They would amount to £3·423 million, of which £2·286 million is provincial, and adding the £200,000, special allotments, we get to an increase of over £400,000 on the present year's provision.

"Then when we ask the Council to have faith in our regard for primary education in the future, we may be fairly judged by what we have done in the past, before the war, to which the Hon'ble Member has referred. Taking recurring grants I find that in the years immediately preceding the war, commencing with 1912-13 our total special grants for education amounted to 124 lakhs, and that 51 of these were earmarked for elementary education, and 10 lakhs for the education of girls, which in present circumstances will be mostly elementary; while there was a further sum of 19 lakhs unallotted to any specific purpose of which a considerable portion must have gone to primary education. In the same period we added as non-recurring grants (in round figures) 102 lakhs for primary education, 2½ lakhs for female education and 16 lakhs not specifically allotted.

"The Hon'ble Member spoke of the idea prevailing in some quarters that Provincial Governments should not be required to meet the expenditure on any expansion of education; that that was the business of the Government of India. I may say at once I cannot accept any such proposition. Education is a provincial head; and one of the main objects of giving Provincial Governments sources of growing revenue is that they may satisfy legitimate demands for expansion in the departments under their control. Every now and then, when the Government of India have been prosperous Provincial Governments have been given special assistance, and we hope to be prosperous again and to do the same. But we must not thereby be supposed to accept a definite liability for the extension of primary education as contrasted with improvement of existing schools. I say that that is a liability of Provincial Governments, and all we can promise is to help those who help themselves.

"In face of these explanations, I trust that the Resolution will not be pressed. If it is pressed, I can only oppose it."

The Hon'ble PANDIT MADAN MOHAN MALAVIYA:—"Sir, it is unnecessary to make a speech in support of the motion before us. I would only like to ask the Hon'ble the Finance Member if he could not spare the amount asked for out of the surplus and some other items. I should like him to tell us why the sum of Rs. 40 lakhs which has been set apart for Delhi expenditure could not be reduced? Certainly that expenditure might well stand over for some time. No interests will be injured by the construction of Delhi being delayed, while the interests of thousands and millions of boys in this country are being injured by their being deprived of the education which it is their birthright to expect from a civilized Government.

"My Hon'ble friend has spoken of the need of more efficient teachers before schools can be extended. The attitude my friend has taken up, is, I submit, a wrong one. The cry for efficient teachers before schools is of very recent growth and I fear, it is being carried too far. Schools have existed and worked with the most beneficent results before the special training of teachers was thought of. If the Government of India would recognise the imperative need of bringing the blessing of education home to the school-going population, they would use the instruments that are available, and that would lead to such an expansion of education in a few years that all lovers of the country will be gratified. But to wait for the training of teachers, and to make their absence an excuse for delaying the extension of education to the people is, I submit, an entirely wrong policy. I do not ask my Hon'ble friend the Finance Member to cut down any new item of war expenditure, but I should like him to tell us why the 40 lakhs provided for Delhi expenditure in the Budget should not have largely been given for education."

The Hon'ble Sir WILLIAM MEYER:—"I can answer the Hon'ble Member's question in a very few words, and I think he will be the more satisfied with my reply, because some two years ago he professed himself an ardent advocate of the policy of New Delhi. We have cut down the expenditure on Delhi to the full extent we can do so without absolute waste. If we were to cut down further, we should have to dismiss establishments and let existing material rot and waste. I can assure the Hon'ble Member that we have not put any money into New Delhi that is not simply required to keep the project alive if I may say so, as a going concern."

The Hon'ble Mr. SRINIVASA SASTRI:—"Sir, I have nothing to say except that I would have been much more gratified if the Hon'ble the Finance Member was able to tell us that the Government of India have on hand some scheme for the extension of elementary education and not merely that it is a burden on the Provincial Governments which are not ever-provided with monies as the Finance Minister well knows. His idea is to throw the responsibilities on shoulders that cannot bear them and refuse to shoulder the responsibilities which the Government of India can alone bear. A large programme has to be planned. Until that programme is planned by the Government of India and funds are promised to the Provincial Governments, it is, I think, unjust, Sir, to expect them to finance large schemes of expansion. I say that from experience, as I said of the most favourable province in India, that hitherto the Government of Madras found themselves unable to finance any extension scheme. I do not of course know the secrets of budget-making, but it strikes me that, with a large sum at their disposal, the Government of India might, in the beginning, have made provision for some sums on behalf of extension. The rules do not require that I should suggest sources from which the Finance Minister should abstract the revenue that I ask on behalf of this item. It will be a very hazardous thing for me to do so, for I know he can defend every item in his Budget as though it was the most sacred item. But there is a surplus which might be touched. I venture to say this with the greatest possible hesitation and with the greatest timidity of spirit, but the surplus, I think, is always meant for some uses. I have known surpluses being spent at the last moment on objects that the Finance Minister specially favours. Of course we non-officials who are outside the sphere do not know how really some items find more and more money, while other important items shrink from year to year. If we had a glance at these things from the inside in good time, we might be able to suggest suitable plans which the Finance Minister will not be able to put aside in a chevalier spirit. I have known in Madras for example when small demands, for thousands or less of thousands, were rejected by the Finance Minister, schemes were suddenly brought forward claiming 4 and 5 lakhs at a time. In my own experience in the sphere of education itself some years ago we found suddenly in a Budget of a certain year a sum of 4 lakhs provided. For what? For starting some Government secondary schools. We were taken by surprise and were at a loss how 4 lakhs could all of a sudden have been found. It looked like jugglery. Then we found that a scheme of Government secondary schools had been in incubation for some time in the Province, that it had been decided upon; the Government were compelled to find the amount, and 4 lakhs were found. But luckily owing to missionary influence in England, the scheme fell through. But whatever it was, that gives a proof that if it occurred to Government to find monies for objects that they want, they would somehow or other find it. When the Finance Minister and the Government of which he is the financial adviser resolve to find money for a good object, he will never be at a loss. Where there is a will there is always a way."

The motion was put and negatived.

The Hon'ble Sir GEORGE BARNES :—" Sir, I beg to introduce the following heads of the Financial Statement for 1917-18.—

Revenue	Expenditure.
Salt.	Salt.
Excise.	Excise.
Posts and Telegraphs	Customs
Stationery and Printing.	Posts and Telegraphs.
State Railways.	Stationery and Printing.
Subsidised Companies.	Protective Works, Railways.
	Subsidised Companies.
	Miscellaneous Railway Expenditure.
	Capital outlay on State Railways

" As has been the practice in former years, I will ask my Hon'ble friend the President of the Railway Board to offer some remarks on the subject of railways.

" With regard to the head of Posts and Telegraphs, I do not propose to trouble the Council with figures relating to receipts and expenditure, for these figures have already been laid before them by my Hon'ble Colleague, but I think that it may interest the Council to hear a few words concerning the activities of the Post and Telegraph Department in connection with the war. Few of us, I imagine, have any accurate conception of the extent of those activities, and of the strain which has been placed upon our Post and Telegraph Department.

" Some idea with regard to the Post Office is afforded by the fact that since August 1914, 20 supervising officers, 700 postmasters, inspectors and clerks and about the same number of menials have been sent from India for employment with the various Expeditionary Forces. As was to be expected, many of these men have now returned to India, but the total Postal staff at present with the forces consists of 20 supervising officers, 544 postmasters, inspectors and clerks and 524 menials, while the total number of field post offices is no less than 112. By far the heaviest part of this work has had to be done in Mesopotamia under the most trying difficulties and, as an instance of the magnitude of the postal traffic there, it may be mentioned that about 100,000 parcels are handled monthly at Basrah. Apart from the actual work in the various fields, the sorting of the mails in India for the troops at the front involves a vast amount of labour, as at the two Indian bases, Bombay and Karachi, bags are prepared for every unit with each force. Over and above this, special arrangements have had to be introduced at Bombay for the disposal of letters and parcels for officers and soldiers invalided to India from the field, necessitating the maintenance of a card index for each unit showing the whereabouts of each individual."

"The Telegraph Branch has also been put to a severe test in supplying the men and stores required for the field telegraph parties. Large numbers of men have been deputed for telegraph service in Mesopotamia, and it has been extremely difficult at times to meet all the demands which have been received from that theatre of war. At present there are roughly 1,200 members of the Engineering and 600 of the Traffic staff employed there. Similarly, in connection with the campaign in East Africa, about 650 engineering and 225 traffic men have been deputed. In addition wireless operators have been lent for duty on transports, many officials have been lent to the Indo-European Telegraph Department to assist in maintaining the essential link between Mesopotamia and India, while work has been carried out by departmental agency in Seistan and various parts of Arabia.

"Taking the Post and Telegraph Department as a whole about 4,000 officials of all classes are on field service, and many of them have been mentioned in despatches, while three have been awarded the honour of C.I.E. for military work and one Indian subordinate, I am glad to say, has received the D.C.M.

"As regards stores the value of the issues for war purposes made this year is already over Rs. 14½ lakhs. The telegraph workshops have been kept very fully employed on the manufacture of munitions, and there is reason to believe that the outturn has been very satisfactory.

"Telegraph traffic has continued to expand rapidly, and the latest figures available show an increase of 10 per cent over those for the corresponding period of last year which themselves were very considerably in excess of the pre-war figures. In particular, the volume of State traffic, frequently in code and cipher, has been very great. This is at all times troublesome to deal with expeditiously and accurately, as such messages have to be collated, but very few complaints have been received. The strain on the staff of operators became so heavy in the autumn that it was found necessary to raise the charge for ordinary inland telegrams from 6 to 8 annas in order to decrease the volume of traffic. As the Director General has stated in his Annual Report, 'Notwithstanding the heavy demands for men for the various fields of military operations and the extra responsibilities imposed on the Department on account of Censorship and other exigencies of war, as well as the abnormal expansion of Government and Press telegraph traffic, the business of the Post and Telegraph Department has proceeded just as smoothly and efficiently as in normal times. To this result the staff of every rank contributed, and their loyalty, zeal and devotion to duty were never more conspicuous than in this year of stress."

"I come to the next head, that of Salt, one of the principal anxieties which the Government of India have felt during the current year has been the abnormal rise in prices, more particularly in the Punjab and certain other parts of Northern India. This rise in prices has been mainly due to the curtailment of normal imports from the United kingdom and other countries occasioned by the shortage of tonnage, which has brought about abnormal demands on the salt lakes of Rajputana, and the salt mines of the Punjab. At the same time, there has also, undoubtedly, been a great deal of speculation which has helped to raise prices to an unjustifiable level. Steps have been taken by the Government of India and the Government of the Punjab to deal with the position as far as possible. In the Punjab, depots have been opened by the local authorities under the orders of the Punjab Government with the object of distributing salt at reasonable prices to the consumer, preference at the same time being given by the Salt Department to indents made by these local authorities over indents made by the general public. It is hoped that this measure may materially alleviate the position so far as the poorer consumers are concerned. I am glad to notice that there has already been a considerable drop in salt prices in the Punjab. The Government of India have also recently adopted measures with the object of largely increasing the output of the Mayo Mine at Khewra, which is the chief source of supply in the Punjab by the opening up of new workings and introduction of mechanical haulage to replace manual labour. It will probably not be possible until the end of the war to carry out in their entirety the measures above referred to for increasing the output of the Mayo Mine as the necessary machinery has to be obtained from home, and it is not at present procurable there. The Government of India have, however, sanctioned the immediate installation in the present workings of additional plant which it is hoped will be procurable in this country, and it is expected that this will result in a very considerable increase in the output within the course of the next few months. The present position at the Rajputana Salt Sources as regards future stocks of salt is, also, I am sorry to say, not without anxiety as the late summer rains of 1916 have filled up the salt lake and have thereby put off the extraction of salt by some two months, and it is also feared that it will be difficult to secure a sufficient supply of labour for extraction owing to the demand for field labour. In this case, however, as in the case of the Punjab Salt Mines, the Government are doing all that is possible to secure the maximum output.

"As regards the Customs and Excise estimates, I do not wish to add anything to the remarks made by the Hon'ble Colleague the Finance Member in introducing the Financial Statement. In spite of increasing restrictions on trade designed either to guard against the enemy getting articles of which he is in need or to conserve supplies to meet the ever-growing needs of the Indian Army and of the Home Government or, finally to economise tonnage I think it can certainly be said that trade conditions generally in the year which is now ending have been unexpectedly good. We have had of course our special problems. I may refer, for instance, to the difficulties which we have had to deal with in connection with the supply of coal. We have had also to embark upon new activities in the direction of Government control of certain trades. For instance, we have had to control the supply of tanned hips to the War Office; we have had to restrict the export of raw hides and skins, and we have had to take measures involving a direct interference with trade in the matter of the supply of jute shellac mica wolfram and certain other commodities Nevertheless, as I have said, trade conditions generally in the past year have been more favourable, I think, than any one could have expected. I fear it is equally true, however, that we have now to face a period of greater anxiety than we have experienced in the current year. The freight position is likely to be more and more difficult, and the necessity of economising tonnage to the greatest possible extent is now of supreme importance The Home Government have found it necessary recently to take the most stringent steps to prohibit the import of all articles into the United Kingdom that are not absolutely necessary, while the export of many articles from the United Kingdom which India normally consumes, has been similarly curtailed. These steps must, of course, re-act directly on our trade. Restrictions, I need not assure you, Sir, are not imposed unless and until they are necessary for the vital interests of the Empire, that is to say, in the interests of us all Those concerned in commerce and trade have accepted in an ungrudging spirit the restrictions which in the past have been found necessary, and we shall not look in vain for the same spirit in the future. We must and we shall stand together to bear our share of the burdens of the war, and any measures which are essential for the successful prosecution of the war will in the future, as in the past be accepted without demur."

The Hon'ble Sir ROBERT GILLAN:—"Sir, when I spoke in the Budget debate last year, I said there was one word which recurred on every page and in every paragraph of current railway, history and that word was 'war'. The same is true of the Chapter which I have now to add

"About the figures of railway revenue and expenditure I need say little. Inevitably —and, as the Hon'ble the Finance Member told us, this is a matter not merely of money but of materials—our capital expenditure has been and must continue to be very severely restricted The same thing is true in the revenue account of renewals. It is interesting to notice, I think, that in the current year it is anticipated now that railways will earn 6 crores of rupees more than was originally estimated, and they will do this without adding to their working expenses. The result is that the percentage of net working profit to capital outlay comes up to the very high figure of 5·69. Next year it is lower, because the estimate is for some reduction in receipts and increase in expenditure, but it is still 5·47. These results are abnormal, both because railways have been carrying a heavy traffic which used to go by sea, and because the expenditure has been restricted With the restoration of peace conditions will change again. We cannot count on keeping all the new traffic and most of the expenditure has not been avoided but postponed. None the less, at a time like this, the results are very welcome. I should like to think also that the figures indicate an expansion of the internal trade of India: and, after making all allowances for the revenue derived from the diversion of traffic from the sea to railways, I am inclined to think they do.

"To come to our special war activities Last year I told the Council that we had successfully begun the manufacture of munitions. That manufacture during the current year has greatly extended and has branched out in many directions. We have been concerned also with the construction of military railways and with the supply to them in Mesopotamia, East Africa and on the frontier of personnel and materials. The recruiting organisation alone for the supply to them of skilled and unskilled labour has developed into a very large business with ramifications all over India and in fact outside of India.

"Then we have had to do with the Inland Water Transport in Mesopotamia This may seem rather curious, but it was desired to carry out a great deal of constructional and re-erection work in India for river-craft. For that purpose an Indian Rivercraft Board was constituted in Calcutta, composed of representatives of shipping firms whose services have to be cordially acknowledged. Rivercraft Committees were set up in Karachi, Bombay, Colombo, Madras and Singapore, and a large shipbuilding yard constructed at Karachi under the control of the Indian Rivercraft Board. With these activities, in view of their association with engineering firms, it was natural that the Railway Board should be connected and the supply of personnel and stores for Inland Water Transport to which this connection led, has been a very big business. Thus our war responsibilities have during the past year increased very greatly, and it was found necessary in order to deal with them to set up a special War Branch in the Railway Board's office.

"These have been our additional responsibilities, but in their ordinary working also railways have experienced grave anxieties. A year ago I spoke of the congestion which had been caused by the transfer to railways of sea traffic, and, in view of our experience at that time, we thought it would be well to consider in advance the possibilities of the next busy season. For this purpose a Conference was held in July in Calcutta under the presidency of our Hon'ble Member, and the outlook was then considered both from the commercial and the railway point of view. I think that Conference did much good both by co-ordinating information and clearing the air But in times like the present all forecasts are apt to be upset. One desideratum clearly was that before the busy season began all consumers of coal should lay in stocks so that coal should not interfere with the movements of other traffic, and for this purpose special contracts were entered into by railways by which they might accumulate large stocks. In the first place, however, plentiful rains, good crops and malaria led to scarcity of labour in the coal fields. The raisings in November were very much below what they ought to have been. Then in December, as a result of the strike of miners in Australia, because it was this far off disturbance that affected us an abnormal demand arose for Admiralty coal, and this demand no one in India but the railways could meet. The result was that railways started the busy season with depleted instead of with very large stocks, and for some time we have been face to face with a very difficult position. A Committee was however established in Calcutta for the regulation of coal supplies. On the railway side we have done our best to make full use of our facilities and stock, and we do hope that the turn of the tide has come.

"Another outstanding difficulty in railway operations at the present time is that which I have already mentioned, the difficulty of getting materials. It is not a matter of working up to any ordinary standard, but really of keeping our stock and our engines in commission. The want of a few tubes may cripple an engine which is otherwise in perfect working order, and, unfortunately, it is the indispensable things which are almost unprocurable. We have had to devise, to extemporise, and in every possible way to economise, and it is this absolute need of economy which has led to the recent restrictions in passenger services. I have seen a certain amount of criticism of this step in the press. Inconveniences no doubt have resulted to the travelling public and naturally there are grumblings. But the step is inevitable, the inconvenience is an insurance—I am going to use rather a big word, but it is not, I think, too big a word—against a disaster.

"I have given two outstanding examples of our difficulties, Sir, but there are many others which occur from day to day in railway working, and the staffs of our railways have been depleted: they have given up many of their best men to what railways like every one else have to put in the forefront of requirements, that is war needs. It is not only the men who have borne the burden and heat of the day in special work in foreign countries that we have to remember, but the officers and the rank and file who under abnormally difficult conditions have kept the ordinary railway machinery running. To all of them a tribute is due for devotion to duty and for work well done."

The Hon'ble Sir REGINALD CRADDOCK to introduce the following heads of the Financial Statement for 1917-18 —

Revenue.	Expenditure.
Registration.	Registration.
Jails.	General Administration.
Police.	Courts of Law.
Medical.	Jails.
	Police.
	Medical.

"Sir, in introducing the various heads of the Budget with which the Home Department is concerned, I have as usual to deal with services which, though of the greatest importance to the community, do not in their purely financial aspect usually evoke much comment or criticism. They are services in regard to which it is practically impossible to curtail expenditure. Indeed in their case it is practically impossible to prevent expenditure increasing. War or no war, the police and the law courts have to go on with their work, documents have to be registered, prisons have to receive criminals, hospitals to remain open for patients, and the general administration to be carried on with the added strain of the war. All that can be ensured is that, while the war is on, none but the most urgent increases should be allowed, and all general schemes for improvement and development have to be postponed altogether, or where this is not possible, introduced by the most gradual methods. I do not think the Council needs any assurance, but, on my own behalf, I can assure the Council that my Hon'ble Colleague the Finance Member is a very vigilant custodian of the public purse, and that no schemes involving any increase of expenditure can hope to win his consent, unless their urgency can be demonstrated in the most convincing way. The details regarding marked increase under the various heads with which I have to deal are explained in the Financial Statement, and I do not propose therefore to take up the time of the Council with any analysis of figures and tables, or with explanations of this or that increase in expenditure.

"I prefer to confine myself to more general observations regarding the departments which I have the honour to administer. The war has had its effects everywhere in some cases it has exercised its silent pressure, in others its effects have been more clearly manifest. The pressure of business has in many cases necessitated extra staff in our offices, and every Department has had to bear its share and play its part.

"The greatest strain of all has fallen upon the Medical Department, a strain which under the able control and direction of Surgeon-General Sir Pardey Lukis has been borne in the most remarkable way. I take this opportunity of offering my testimony to the great debt which India generally, and the Home Department in particular, owes, to the very able direction by the Hon'ble Sir Pardey Lukis of the Medical Department and the untiring labours that he has given to the welfare of his profession and those who on his profession most benefits. In order to meet the demands of the military authorities in connection with the war, 346, Indian Medical Service officers in civil employ, 209 Military Assistant Surgeons, 122 Military Sub-Assistant Surgeons and 629 Civil

Sub-Assistant Surgeons have been surrendered for military duty by the Local Governments. In addition to these, 259 private practitioners and 111 Civil Assistant Surgeons have been granted temporary commissions in the Indian Medical Service for the purpose of the war. Their services have been of very great value in supplementing the medical resources of the Army. This has thrown a great strain on the resources of the Local Governments who have met the difficulties, as far as possible, in the following way:—

A.—By doubling up civil charges, i.e., by placing the Civil Surgeon of one station in visiting charge of another.

B.—By placing medical officers in military employ in collateral charge as Civil Surgeons.

C.—By the employment of medical missionaries and other independent practitioners.

D.—By the re-employment of retired medical officers and medical subordinates.

E.—By replacing medical officers in charge of the big Central Jails by laymen such as members of the Indian Civil Service and Police.

F.—By the promotion of military and civil Assistant Surgeons to the charge of civil surgeoncies.

In surrendering officers from civil employ for military duty, Local Governments have been very careful to make as small demands as possible upon the professorial staff of the various medical colleges so as to interfere as little as possible with the progress of medical education.

"Turning now to Jails, our jails have not escaped the effect of the pressure, for while in some parts of India circumstances connected with the war have brought about congestion in the jail population, the war has simultaneously enabled us to relieve the congestion in a very pleasing way. Some thousands of prisoners, those convicted of less heinous crimes or crimes involving less moral depravity have availed themselves of the opportunity for service in special labour corps in Mesopotamia. Those who have volunteered for this service and have been found suitable have been receiving reasonable wages, sufficient to permit of their allocating some portion to the support of their families and of themselves working as members of free corps and giving their service directly to the war. The sentences of these men have been suspended, and if they work well and receive good conduct, as I hope will be the case with the majority, when the campaign is over and they are set free, they have the promise of remission of their sentences. Their self-respect will have been restored to them and they should have earned enough to make a fresh start in an honest livelihood without the immediate pressure of want which may sometimes drive men back again to crime before they have had full opportunity for rehabilitating themselves.

"The efforts of the various Local Governments to reclaim the criminal tribes have often been made known to this Council, and even in this year some provision is being made in the Punjab for the inauguration of a large scheme for the regeneration and profitable employment of the criminal tribe in that province. Their services are also being enlisted for the manufacture of articles required for the war.

"I will now turn to the Police. Five years ago when I first came to this Council I had to meet a Resolution from my Hon'ble friend Mr. Basu, advocating the appointment of a Committee to inquire into the administration of the Police. I indicated in my reply what great allowances had to be made for the difficulties and troubles which the Police had to undergo in the execution of their duty, for their many temptations, for their scanty pay and for the fact that the reforms advocated by the Police Commission must necessarily be slow in operation. I counselled patience and I expressed my strong hope that under the gradual effect of the measures taken and about to be taken, under the watchful supervision of the Local Governments, under the untiring efforts of the many honourable and hardworking officers, European and Indian, under whom they serve, the improvement and reformation of the Police would steadily come about. My Hon'ble friend was sufficiently convinced to withdraw his Resolution, and I can urge upon the Council that the hopes that I had expressed, and the patience that I then counselled, have been fully justified.

"During my term of office the total annual expenditure on the police for the whole of India has increased by no less than a million sterling. I make no apology for this increase. I am proud of it. It is money well spent, and it is money for which good value has been received. By far the greater portion of it has been spent on improving the pay and grading of the humble constable and head constable, and that improvement has not yet finished. I claim for that force, a force of 200,000 in round numbers, that the cases of misconduct are surprisingly few and that such cases have been growing fewer and fewer. In a force of that size there must be many weaker vessels and many black sheep, but, as each year goes by, the tribute which the Courts pay to the honesty with which investigations are carried out is becoming greater and more pronounced. It is unreasonable to expect that every villager put into a police uniform will at once be transformed into a courteous servant of the public. But I will point to one fact. Sir, to show that the exactions commonly attributed to the lower police are greatly exaggerated. If the illicit income which these men made were of great importance and magnitude, you would not find that the grant of a rupee or two extra per month in salary would make all the difference between short and full recruitment and few and frequent resignations. It has been found in those provinces from which the Army draws most of its recruits that an increase in the emoluments of the troops necessitates a corresponding, or nearly corresponding increase, in the emoluments of the police if recruitment is to be maintained at its proper level and resignations are to be checked. I think every one of us knows that the Indian sepoy has very few or no opportunities of adding to his lawful emoluments by illicit means, and if the police really made any substantial income by such means, the small increase made to the emoluments of the sepoy would not draw men away from the police service.

"I have often wondered, Sir, why the Press and the Indian public continue so persistently to shower abuse upon their countryman who don the uniform of the police. If it were beyond the power of India to produce an honest and hard-working police force, what hope would there be for the country? I do not take this gloomy view. In the Indian Police force India has a body of men of whom it should be proud. They have never gone on strikes, they have never become insubordinate, they have continued to do their work uncomplainingly in all weathers and through every stress, and have shown an example of patience, endurance and loyalty which should excite envy rather than reproach. Nor, Sir, will I exclude from my category of commendation the many officers and men of the Criminal Investigation Department, European and Indian, who have done their duty faithfully and well, and I should like to pay a tribute to the manner in which the head of that Department, my friend Sir Charles Cleveland, has guided the organisation which he so ably controls. India does not know, the public do not recognise, the services which the Criminal Investigation Department have performed in tracing out, checking and controlling the activities of the rebels, spies and revolutionaries which must be found among a population so vast as that of the Indian continent. I have never been one of those who desired to throw doubt upon the manhood and virility of Bengal. If I ever had any doubt on that score, it would have been dispelled by the example of those many fine officers of the Criminal Investigation Department, all of the Bengali race, who have sacrificed their lives in the cause of duty. If the young men of Bengal desire any inspiration it is from their police officers and not from the perverted anarchists from whom they should draw it. It is the murdered officers and not conspirators or cowardly assassins who are best fitted to wear the martyr's crown.

"Sir, I am now at the end of my term of office, and perhaps you and the Council will allow me some further indulgence upon this occasion. It has been my lot to be associated with measures like the amendment of the Law of Conspiracy and the Defence of India Act. I do not regret for a moment the part that has fallen upon me to play in the passing of those laws. There was a stern necessity for them. I regret that that necessity existed, but otherwise I do not regret that I had to do my duty in respect of those laws. They are at best measures designed to repress crime, and it stands to reason that any one concerned with the Government of India would take far more pleasure in laws of constructive beneficence than in laws of repression. It is a source of great regret to me that I have not been able to carry through other measures of a beneficent constructive nature. As the Council is aware I have attempted to pass through a measure for the better protection of minors, and that measure had received wide-spread approval as a whole, but when the subject began to be examined in the details, so many points of acute controversy were produced, that it was considered impossible to go on with it during the war. Similarly, in my second year of office, I visited the Andamans Settlement and formed great hopes that with the aid of a Jail Commission the Government of India might be able to take a great step forward towards the improvement of its penal system and the better reclamation of its criminals. The war has again intervened, but I trust that these reforms may after all not be long delayed. There were other matters of very general interest which I had hoped to push through during my term of office. One of these is a measure to deal with Charitable and Religious Endowments upon which the Home Department held a Conference at Delhi shortly before the outbreak of the war. Another measure with which I had been anxious to deal was the question of usury, on which I hoped we might be able to devise something to protect the poor and ignorant from the avarice of the usurer.

"All these hopes for securing great and wide-reaching benefits for the people of India have been frustrated temporarily by the war. But after all it matters little, if a Bill is a good one by whom it is got through, and if circumstances rendered it impossible for me to enjoy the fruition of those schemes, it will still ever be a source of pride and satisfaction to me if I have been able, however so little, to push those schemes a little further on towards realisation.

"Sir, I should like before sitting down to express in this Council my thanks to the many officers who have assisted me in the conduct of the affairs of the Home Department, particularly the Secretaries without whose loyal support I could have done nothing; and in that term I include all those who assisted them in their work, and especially I would like to bear testimony to the valuable work and assistance which a Member of Government receives from the ministerial and clerical establishments whose continual and loyal exertions and labours are known to him though they may not shine so manifestly before the general public."

The Council then adjourned to Monday, the 12th March.
